U.S. Planes Raid Airfield In North Viet

Bombs Hit Targets At Dien Bien Phu's Historic Battle Site

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Air Force planes pounded the airfield and barracks in North Viet Nam's Dien Bien Phu today, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochina war.

South of the border, government troops killed 120 Viet Cong and captured eight others in three ground operations, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

Communists mortars hit two air strips with mortar fire during the night. U.S. spokesman said three helicopters were damaged at Cheo Reo, 220 miles northeast of Saigon, and another helicopter crashed due to mechanical failure after it took off during the attack on the Soc Trang strip, 100 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen said a total of 30 planes pounded the targets at Dien Bien Phu, about 185 miles west northwest of Hanoi. They said no antiaircraft fire was encountered over the scene of the bitter 1954 fighting and no enemy planes were sighted.

All planes returned safely from the mission, almost on the Laotian border, they said.

The Viet Cong fired 20 to 25 mortar shells into the Soc Trang airfield, but U.S. helicopters there were hurriedly flown to another field. Damage was minor.

Another air strike today took 20 Navy Skyhawks and Crusaders 40 miles southeast of Hanoi, the closest yet to the North Vietnamese capital since air raids on the Communist North began Feb. 7, the spokesmen said. The raiders attacked the Nam Dinh oil storage tanks, described as one of the biggest petroleum tank areas in North Viet Nam.

Pilots reported flames from the storage tanks shot more than 200 feet into the air from all compounds and approximately eight large tanks were destroyed, the spokesmen said.

Heavy antiaircraft fire was encountered, pilots reported, but no enemy planes were sighted and all planes returned safely to the carrier Oriskany, the spokesmen said.

Housewives Warned: Use Legal Trash Cans

Incinerator Supt. John Melvin said today he has instructed garbage and trash collection crews not to empty huge containers used by some householders, particularly 55-gallon oil drums and big barrels made out of heavy paperboard.

Melvin warned housewives that city ordinances require garbage must be kept in 20-gallon metal cans which have weather-tight lids and are maintained in good condition.

The State Industrial Commission has warned against trash collectors attempting to empty the huge containers because of the possible unjury to the workers, Melvin said. In addition, the paperboard containers become waterlogged in rain storms and eventually fall apart, he said.

During Meeting Thursday

Trustees Chosen In College Study

The newly - appointed Board of Trustees for the proposed Columbiana County community college elected Oliver Payne, superintendent of Lisbon schools, as its chairman during a meeting at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana Thursday night. Payne was appointed for a two-year term.

Others named to the board and their terms are: Probate Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, vice president, three years; Hugh G. Gibson, Bliss Co. engineer of Salem, three years; Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, executive assistant to Rep. Wayne L. Hays, four years; Lowell Myers, superintendent of Wellsville schools, five years; Paul Brittain of Brittain Motors, East Palestine, five years, and Dan Fury, Hanoverton businessman, five years.

FLOYD LOWER of Lisbon, president of the Columbiana County Regional Planning Commission, was elected secretary-treasurer of the trustees, who will spearhead the development of the college in keeping with a $1,700,000 state appropriation announced Monday.

The trustees were sworn in by County Commissioner R. Max Gard of near Lisbon. The commissioners recently appointed the trustees, but their names were not made public until last night's organizational meeting.

The board will meet again at 5:30 p.m. July 19 at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

Payne said today that guests at this briefing meeting will include Dr. Max Lerner, president of the Lorain County Community College, and Dr. Ray Young of the college staff.

The trustees have displayed special interest in the Lorain school, since its area is considered comparable to that of Columbiana County and environs.

ALTHOUGH there was considerable talk at last night's meeting about a proposed community college, the trustees have made it clear that such a college is only in the proposal stage. They point out that the actual direction of the school and its program will depend on the findings of an intensive study of area educational needs.

At last night's meeting, Lower, who is chairman of the Columbiana County Committee on Higher Education, suggested that the nucleus of the study organization be a 44 - member group that would investigate the personnel needs of area industries and businesses as well as other needs of the communities.

The Committee on Higher Education already has sent questionnaires to 1965 Columbiana County graduates asking them if they plan to attend college; if not, why, and other related questions. It was also suggested that questionnaires be sent to county graduates of 1962.

Also to be studied is the geographical area that could best be served. It was suggested that the college might serve educational interests in Mahoning and Harrison counties and neighboring Pennsylvania as well as Columbiana County.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the study group will need some operating money, possibly as much as $3,000.

U.S. Orbits 'Tiros 10' To Eye Weather

New Satellite Joins 3 Others In Living Meteorlogical Data

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Tiros 10 weather satellite circled the globe today, its camera eyes ready to record the birth and movement of hurricanes, typhoons and other storms over a great area of the globe.

The mechanical meteorologist, launched late Thursday night, joined three other operating Tiros satellites — nos. 7, 8 and 9 — on space patrol. The quartet could provide the most comprehensive photographic coverage yet of a full season of tropical storms.

Tiros 10 is the first of the series paid for by the U.S. Weather Bureau and is the forerunner of an operational system the bureau plans to begin launching early in 1966.

The previous nine Tiros satellites, all successful, were financed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Although classed as research vehicles, many of the more than half a million pictures they have produced were used in operational weather channels around the world.

Tiros 10 rode into space atop a Delta rocket that roared off its launching pad Thursday night and blazed into a dark Florida sky. The Douglas Delta, recording its 30th satellite success in 32 launchings, hurled the 290-pound payload into a north-south orbit more than 400 miles above the earth.

Initial cloud cover pictures from the satellite are not expected until Saturday or Sunday. Ground controllers want first to jockey the craft into an angle that will provide its two cameras with the best look possible at the hurricane-spawning grounds of the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico. The satellite will transmit more than 400 photos daily, covering nearly 80 per cent of the earth.

Tiros 10 is one of three satellites the Weather Bureau purchased in 1963 for a total of about $7 million. Thursday night's launching, counting the Delta launch vehicle, cost the bureau about $4.5 million.

Reds Launch Satellite For Space Study

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched another unmanned satellite today in its Cosmos series, Tass news agency announced.

The observatory in Bochum, Germany, had reported picking up signals it said varied from the Cosmos series. The observatory had said it could not tell whether the satellite was manned or unmanned.

The new satellite, Cosmos 70, "carries scientific equipment designed to continue the study of outer space," Tass reported.

"The apparatus on board the sputnik is functioning normally," the agency added.

Gen. Imbert Takes New Policy Stand

Armed Forces Give Backing To Efforts By OAS On Accord

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — New statements by two leaders of the Dominican junta appeared today to open the door to a settlement of the stalemate in the Caribbean trouble spot.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras, junta president, said Thursday night that the most difficult part of his task was completed and he would step down when the Dominican people were assured of safety from communism, anarchy and despotism.

Communism, Imbert said in a televised speech, had been confined to just one sector of Santo Domingo. He meant the rebel sector.

The remaining task, he said, could be done by any "well intentioned Dominican." He added that the armed forces and the political parties should share in the responsibility for safe guarding the country.

Imbert said any attempt by the Organization of American States to impose a provisional government would be a "gross act of intervention."

But he said he would not be an obstacle to a peaceful solution of the crisis touched off by the rebellion April 24. Previously Imbert had said he would step down only after an elected government took office.

Peace prospects got a further boost Thursday night when the armed forces secretary, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, told a newsman the armed forces would support any democratic solution put forward by the OAS. He added that the junta, which he said the army considered a "democratic government," also would back the OAS.

The OAS proposed a settlement June 18 calling for creation of a provisional government followed by general elections in six to nine months.

The junta's first reply amounted to a virtual rejection of the plan. The junta proposed itself as the basis for a provisional government — a suggestion completely unacceptable to the rebels. The rebels had agreed to the OAS plan with minor reservations.

Appeal Ruled Out By Fired Police Aide

PITTSBURGH — No legal action is planned by Lawrence J. Maloney, longtime, colorful police official who was fired Thursday for gambling activities disclosed recently at his income tax evasion trial.

Safety Director David Craig said the suspended assistant police superintendent was discharged because his actions constituted "a pattern of immoderate action unfitting for any police officer."

Although acquitted of federal charges of failure to pay taxes on money allegedly received from rackets figures, Maloney testified he gambled large sums at race tracks and in Las Vegas.

Yesterday Maloney, who said he was "heartbroken" over his dismissal, revealed he had been willing to be demoted to patrol-

Ground Broken At Shippingport

Post Office Exercise Held

MRS. FLORENCE E. COOK, postmaster at Shippingport the last 26 years, turns over the first shovel of dirt to launch construction of the new $15,000 post office which is scheduled to be completed in mid-October. At left is Mayor Gerald Rogers, while Harold W. Miller, field service officer for the Post Office Department from New Castle, Pa., looks on. Miller acted as master of ceremonies.

Ground was broken late this morning for the new $15,000 Shippingport post office on Route 18 near the community building.

Construction is slated to begin immediately by Hampton R. Grant & Son of Beaver, with dedication ceremonies planned for mid-October.

Harold W. Miller, field service officer for the Post Office Department from New Castle, Pa., conducted the groundbreaking, with Mrs. Florence E. Cook, postmaster, and Mayor Gerald Rogers assisting.

Shippingport councilmen participating were Wayne Swearingen, Carl Calhoon, William Burris, John Coombs, Dave Green and Smith Hayward.

Rev. Darrell Davis of the Mt. Pleasant United Presbyterian Church gave the invocation.

According to Mrs. Cook, the post office in Shippingport was established May 18, 1870, and has never had its own office building up to this time.

The present 100-box, general delivery post office is located in Mrs. Cook's home on Ferry Rd.

Bridge Pier River Gauge Lists 9-Foot Flood Stage

A 32-foot reading has been flood stage in East Liverpool for more than three generations, but now that a new river gauge mounted on the Chester Bridge has gone into use the critical point becomes nine feet.

That word was passed along to officials and news media throughout the area today by Vernon T. Houghton Jr., river forecaster at the Federal-State Flood Forecasting Service office in Pittsburgh.

Houghton hastened to explain there's no real change in the relative height of the Ohio River waters required to send the first families scurrying for high ground from the low-lying spots along the river.

It's merely that the reference points for the new river gauge are different than those used for many years at former Dam 8, near Newell, which was razed after construction of the Stratton super-dam, he pointed out.

A reading of nine feet on the new gauge on the bridge pier is exactly the same as a 32-foot reading on the former dam's gauge, he explained. But riverfront residents and industries along the Ohio in East Liverpool will have to forget the 32-foot figure engraved in their memories and begin thinking in terms of a nine-foot reading that means the break-off point, Houghton said.

The gauge mounted on the bridge pier a few weeks ago in a joint project of the State Highway Department and the Federal-State Flood Forecasting Service is tied to different basic data than the gauge that was used for years at Dam 8.

The new gauge starts at "O" at the surface of the Ohio as it is at normal pool stage. The zero is at the normal elevation

Commissioners Approve Purchase Of Two Trucks

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday entered into a contract with Mackall Motors of East Liverpool for two new Dodge trucks for the county Highway Department.

Mackall's bid of $11,329 for both vehicles included a $855 trade-in allowance on a 1957 Chevrolet truck.

The proposals of six other dealers ranged from $11,422 to $13,800.

Liverpool Township trustees received approval of their request for authority to buy a new tanker truck for the East fire station at Dixonville.

Trustees propose to meet the $8,881 cost by paying 25 per cent down and the balance on notes. They will buy the chassis from Wimmer Motor Sales of East Liverpool and the tank from the Baughman Manufacturing Co. of Jerseyville, Ill.

Commissioners approved the request of Joe Fisher, Salem real estate man, for a $30 increase in monthly rental for the county's Northwest area court in Salem. The new rate will be $140, effective Aug. 1.

Alex Rutecki of Lisbon, county Civil Defense director, was authorized to rent space in the Floral Hall for a CD display at the County Fair Aug. 25-29. The county will pay the $40 rental.

Commissioners approved Burton Kerr's first addition to Imperial Park in Section 33, Liverpool Township. The plat shows 6.02 acres in lots and 2.04 acres in streets.

Don Hepp, case work supervisor for the county Welfare Department, received a $5 travel allowance to attend a district welfare meeting today at Atwood Lake.

Resort Fails In Efforts To Ban Beatniks

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—There may not be a legal definition of a beatnik, but residents of this resort town on the tip of Cape Cod have no trouble finding words to describe the type.

The problem of a legal definition arose after residents submitted a "ban the beatniks" petition to town officials.

"Everyone knows you can't ban beatniks," said Town Clerk William McCaffrey, "unless they break the law. Besides, what is a beatnik?"

Town selectmen tabled the petition on the ground that there is no legal definition of beatnik.

The petition was the townspeople's response to a growing influx each summer of persons they label "beat."

Evelyn Bent of the weekly Provincetown Advocate says the beatnik migration increases in size each summer.

"This crowd," she says, "comes down with practically nothing and manages to survive without working or bathing."

Provincetown has become the "summer village," she says, for many inhabitants of New York's Greenwich Village. Others say the beatniks come from Boston.

McCaffrey says there aren't many beatniks compared to the thousands of paying tourists who swell the summer population, "but in a little town like this, when it gets congested, and with the narrow streets, if you see the same goon 15 times in one day, you go away with the impression the town is full of them."

Officer Assumed Soviet Name To Write Criticisms

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — A U.S. Navy officer today disclosed that he assumed a Russian name to write a book highly critical of some Pentagon and Navy thinking, and nursed his secret for two years.

Comdr. John A. Davis Jr., 43, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, confirmed in an interview today that he authored the fictional work, "Shadow of Peril." Today was his last day in the Navy, following his voluntary retirement.

The pen name he used was Aleksandr I. Zhdanov, who is described as a Soviet submarine captain.

In the book, Zhdanov (Davis) accuses some U.S. admirals of hushing up reports of U.S. weaknesses at sea in order to get more air power, and takes a few swings at some Pentagon policies on antisubmarine warfare.

Davis wrote the book while he was an antisubmarine adviser to the chief of naval operations in the Pentagon in 1962.

The main theme of the story contends Soviet submarines can easily penetrate U.S. defenses and threaten U.S. naval forces.

Auditor Installs New Data System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state auditor's office announced today it has installed an advanced electronic data processing and storage system which it claims will "revolutionize" general bookkeeping procedures in the office.

The new equipment, already in operation, will step up all phases of bookkeeping operations said Auditor Chester W. Goble, to a point where the status of all funds will be maintained on a day-by-day basis.

The new system, an IBM 1401 computer, will handle all daily accounting and financial transactions of the state. In addition it provides for storage of accumulated transactions on a magnetic disc.

Goble said that with technological developments of the storage facility, any of the stored information will be available upon inquiry, such as current balances of all state funds in the treasury, year-to-date receipts and expenditures, appropriations and encumberances, fixed assets, total debt and interest on that debt at maturity.

Two Are Hurt In Collision

Two men were hospitalized, while two women escaped injury in a truck-car collision on Route 644 in Summitville Monday afternoon around 4:55.

Robert Spizey, 50, of Hartville, Ohio, was retained at Salem Clinic Hospital, while 53-year-old Burdell Mulzaine of Canton, a passenger in Spizey's tractor rig, was treated and released.

Authorities said Spizey was heading south when he crashed into the front of a car driven by Mrs. Ethel M. Johnson of Summitville as she was turning north on to Route 644 from Depot St.

Spizey's vehicle then glanced off Mrs. Johnson's car, knocked over a utility pole and flipped over, demolishing the truck.

Mrs. Johnson's auto, in which Mrs. Blanch Bond of Gresham, Neb., was a passenger, sustained about $850 worth of damage. Neither woman was injured.

Spizey was cited by Deputy Marshal Forrest Young on charges of driving left of center. A hearing will be set pending his release from the hospital.

Resignation Ends Job Speculation In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP)—Weeks of speculation have ended with the announcement by Gov. Hulett Smith that State Natural Resources Director Warden Lane will resign his post as soon as his successor can be found.

Smith made the announcement Thursday after releasing a list of 90 appointments and reappointments — mostly to minor boards and commissions.

The governor was known to be dissatisfied with the work being done by Lane's department in connection with a giant park expansion and improvement program.

After "numerous discussions" between Smith and Lane during the past few weeks about the department's programs, Lane decided to accept an offer of a job in the field of educational and recreational development in Charleston, according to Smith.

Lane, a Republican, was appointed to his post eight years ago by former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood.

Smith has still not announced a decision on whether Insurance Commissioner Harlan Justice will be reappointed. Justice is the only major state department head who has not yet heard from Smith.

Firemen Make Runs To Two Fires In Cars

Auto fires sent firemen on two runs within 65 minutes Thursday afternoon.

They were called to the 300 block on Washington St. near E. Church Alley when a carburetor backfire was blamed for starting a blaze in a station wagon owned by George Miller of Kelly Ave., Glenmoor.

There was no air filter on the auto, firemen said. The alarm was received at 2:43 p.m. from the police department.

At 3:48 p.m., firemen were called to St. Clair Ave. and Franklin Sts. by a fire in a car operated by Joseph Rutter, 1114 Avondale St. Out on arrival, the blaze was started by a short circuit in the wiring to the radio, they said.

LISBON — Five youths lost the right to drive for varying periods following juvenile traffic hearings this week at the Courthouse. Three others paid fines and another forfeited $25.

Licenses of the following drivers were suspended:

Lynn E. Harlan, 17, Alliance R.D. 4, speeding, 25 days; James R. King, 16, Leetonia, same, 20 days; Ted Gilmer, 17, of 971 Newgarden, Salem, leaving scene of accident, 15 days; Luther B. Stoddard, 16, East Liverpool R.D. 1, passing at intersection, same, and Terry L. Lawrence, 17, of 19 Riverside Pk., East Liverpool, stop sign violation, 10 days.

Fined were Donald W. Hubbard, 17, New Waterford, speeding, $20; Francis P. Quetot Jr., 16, Rogers, no operator's license and driving left of center, $10, and John W. Wright, 17, Washington, Pa., passing at intersection, same.

Marsha Rainbow, 16, Monaca, Pa., failed to appear on a speeding charge.

Pair Injured In Car Crash

Two Pennsylvania men were admitted to City Hospital Thursday night with injuries received when their auto struck a parked car on Route 151 near South Side High School.

James William Gilbert, 20, of Leetsdale, driver of a convertible, and his passenger, Charles K. Horton, 22, of Moon Run Township were admitted to the hospital shortly before 11 p.m. with head injuries received in the mishap.

Horton, in "fair" condition, was scheduled to undergo surgery today for a severe laceration of the forehead. Gilbert also received a severe laceration of the forehead, nose and right eyebrow. His condition was termed "satisfactory."

Pennsylvania State Police at the Chippewa Barracks said Gilbert was headed east on Route 151 when he failed to negotiate a curve and struck the auto of Regis McElhaney of Hookstown R. D. 1, which was parked at the edge of the road. The mishap was timed at 10:05 p.m.

State police estimated $1,500 damage to McElhaney's auto and $800 to Gilbert's convertible.

New FBI Official Assumes Duties In Southern Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP)—Southern Ohio's new FBI chief, William B. Soyars Jr., is bad news for bank robbers.

Soyars, 42, came here from Arizona, where just last week agents arrested a bank robber who was on the FBI's ten-most-wanted list of criminals.

"He was the third 'most wanted' picked up by us in the 15 months I was there," Soyars said.

Soyars' new territory of 42 Ohio counties is quite different than the wide-open spaces of Arizona, where agents sometimes use horses and togas, a motor scooter-type vehicle with wide balloon tires that can operate on the desert.

"I can't foresee our using a horse or a toga in this area," Soyars said in an interview Thursday on his first day on the job here.

The new agent-in-charge said there are more than 200 on the FBI payroll in Southern Ohio, but declined to say how many are agents. "We don't like our enemies to know our strength," he said.

Soyars succeeds Ed D. Mason who retired to join the public relations department of a Columbus newspaper.

Republicans Say Economy Shows 'Danger Signals'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders in Congress say there are "danger signals" in the nation's economy and accuse the Johnson administration of "giving glib and pat answers to serious and involved questions."

At a joint news conference Thursday, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said price and wage increases in spite of continued substantial unemployment are creating "distinct inflationary pressures."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said the administration seems to be suggesting that anything wrong in the economy stems from a speech by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Martin said there were some similarities between the present economy and that which preceded the 1929 crash. Martin also said there were differences.

West Virginia Test Case Set

CHARLESTON (AP) — Secretary of State Robert D. Bailey was to meet with Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson today to discuss filing suit against Gov. Hulett Smith.

Sounds like some wild old-time political fight, or even the script for a grade B movie. But it's not. Rather it is the arrangement for setting up a friendly court test of the validity of the proposed constitutional convention.

The governor is a supporter of a constitutional convention, but because of criticism that the delegate apportionment is unconstitutiona, Smith wants a court test.

To do this, Smith Thursday refused a request by Bailey for $1,442 to meet expenses in connection with the convention. Under the law setting up the convention procedure, the governor's office controls the expense money.

Bailey, under the prearranged plan, today was to ask Robertson to represent him in a suit to force the governor to provide him the money.

A petition on Bailey's behalf probably will be filed with the State Supreme Court next week. If the court agrees to hear the petition, the matter should be settled.

The criticism against the convention charges that the delegates will not be apportioned equally.

Finletter Quits NATO Ambassador Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas K. Finletter is resigning as ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and will be replaced by Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state.

Two Pennsylvania men were admitted to City Hospital Thursday night with injuries received when their auto struck a parked car on Route 151 near South Side High School.

James William Gilbert, 20, of Leetsdale, driver of a convertible, and his passenger, Charles K. Horton, 22, of Moon Run Township were admitted to the hospital shortly before 11 p.m. with head injuries received in the mishap.

Horton, in "fair" condition, was scheduled to undergo surgery today for a severe laceration of the forehead. Gilbert also received a severe laceration of the forehead, nose and right eyebrow. His condition was termed "satisfactory."

Pennsylvania State Police at the Chippewa Barracks said Gilbert was headed east on Route 151 when he failed to negotiate a curve and struck the auto of Regis McElhaney of Hooks-town R. D. 1, which was parked at the edge of the road. The mishap was timed at 10:05 p.m.

State police estimated $1,500 damage to McElhaney's auto and $800 to Gilbert's convertible.

New FBI Official Assumes Duties In Southern Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP)—Southern Ohio's new FBI chief, William B. Soyars Jr., is bad news for bank robbers.

Soyars, 42, came here from Arizona, where just last week agents arrested a bank robber who was on the FBI's ten-most-wanted list of criminals.

"He was the third 'most wanted' picked up by us in the 15 months I was there," Soyars said.

Soyars' new territory of 42 Ohio counties is quite different than the wide-open spaces of Arizona, where agents sometimes use horses and togas, a motor scooter-type vehicle with wide balloon tires that can operate on the desert.

"I can't foresee our using a horse or a toga in this area," Soyars said in an interview Thursday on his first day on the job here.

The new agent-in-charge said there are more than 200 on the FBI payroll in Southern Ohio, but declined to say how many are agents. "We don't like our enemies to know our strength," he said.

Soyars succeeds Ed D. Mason who retired to join the public relations department of a Columbus newspaper.

Republicans Say Economy Shows 'Danger Signals'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders in Congress say there are "danger signals" in the nation's economy and accuse the Johnson administration of "giving glib and pat answers to serious and involved questions."

At a joint news conference Thursday, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said price and wage increases in spite of continued substantial unemployment are creating "distinct inflationary pressures."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said the administration seems to be suggesting that anything wrong in the economy stems from a speech by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Martin said there were some similarities between the present economy and that which preceded the 1929 crash. Martin also said there were differences.

West Virginia Test Case Set

CHARLESTON (AP) — Secretary of State Robert D. Bailey was to meet with Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson today to discuss filing suit against Gov. Hulett Smith.

Sounds like some wild old-time political fight, or even the script for a grade B movie. But it's not. Rather it is the arrangement for setting up a friendly court test of the validity of the proposed constitutional convention.

The governor is a supporter of a constitutional convention, but because of criticism that the delegate apportionment is unconstitutiona, Smith wants a court test.

To do this, Smith Thursday refused a request by Bailey for $1,442 to meet expenses in connection with the convention. Under the law setting up the convention procedure, the governor's office controls the expense money.

Bailey, under the prearranged plan, today was to ask Robertson to represent him in a suit to force the governor to provide him the money.

A petition on Bailey's behalf probably will be filed with the State Supreme Court next week. If the court agrees to hear the petition, the matter should be settled.

The criticism against the convention charges that the delegates will not be apportioned equally.

Finletter Quits NATO Ambassador Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas K. Finletter is resigning as ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and will be replaced by Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state.

President Johnson, announcing the changes Thursday, said he would name Joseph J. Sisco, a career Foreign Service officer, to replace Cleveland as assistant secretary for international organization affairs.

'Why Do People Steal?' Diana Asks

"Dear Sir: Could you tell me why some people take things that do not belong to them?

"Someone took my bike out of our yard two weeks ago. I thought someone had borrowed it because I always let everyone ride it that asked me even when I was not going to be home. But no one knows where it is. Now I will not have a bike all summer because my mother said I will have to save my money and I only get a doller a month and I have to give some to the church.

"I am eight years old and I will probly be old enough to drive a car by the time I save enough money to buy a bike. So I wish who ever has it will please bring it back." Diana.

Diana, people have been taking things that do not belong to them for years and years. You ask, "Why?"

We can't give you all the reasons, but we can offer some.

Some people steal because they are poor and have a desperate need for what they take.

Some steal for power; some because they merely get a thrill out of it. Others steal because they are driven to it by others.

Some steal because of envy; some for revenge. Some steal just out of plain orneriness.

Some might even steal just to make a little girl unhappy, although we couldn't understand why.

It isn't necessary for me to tell you—a girl who goes to church—that stealing is wrong. One of the Ten Commandments is "Thou shalt not steal."

We're sorry your bicycle was taken, Diana, and we hope you get it back, or a new one in its place. But whether you do or not, we hope your misfortune doesn't make you think that most people are dishonest. They aren't. Most are gentle and kind and wouldn't think of doing anything to make an 8-year-old girl—or any other boy or girl—unhappy.

There are only a comparatively few who would steal a bicycle—or anything else. You had the misfortune to be one of their victims.

We haven't done a very good job of trying to answer your question, but as you grow older perhaps you'll realize more and more what we are trying to say.

We hope so. For with so much good in the world it would be a shame if a girl named Diana should be misled by one thoughtless deed and grow up thinking most people are bad.

Ex Post Facto Morality

It is one thing for the general public to determine the nature and extent of wrongdoing in the Bobby Baker episode.

But it is quite another and infinitely more difficult thing for the members of the U.S. Senate to judge the same elements.

Senators are in the awkward position—both Democrats for whom the former secretary of the Democratic majority worked and Republicans who were in just as good a position to know what he was doing.

They are confronted with a puzzle of ex post facto morality.

It is improbable that any law was broken by the complex and extensive activities of the majority secretary.

It is probable that all the thing he did in the process of amassing a sizeable fortune on an income of less than $20,000 a year were within the spirit and letter of the law.

It is probable that all the things he did things he did were in keeping with many of the things he knew U.S. senators were doing. These men who sometimes are quick to judge others for "conflicts of interest" have not been overly squeamish about their own interlocking interests.

This is why the Baker case has been embarrassing.

Senators have been reluctant to judge lest they, too, be judged.

They have been understandably hesitant about condemning a Senate employe for a point of view that in other circumstances would have been the equivalent of making hay while the sun was shining.

In short, the issue isn't Bobby Baker at all. It is whether people who work for the U.S. government and for the U.S. Senate specifically should not make hay while the sun is shining.

This is what the new watchdog committee to police senatorial ethics will have to think about. Don't be surprised if it is still thinking 10 years from now. A lot of hay and a lot of sunshine will have passed into history by that time.

Call In The Psychiatrists

Business analysts are looking every place but the right place for the disquietude causing the stock market's erratic behavior.

They are studying business and economic charts.

They should call in the psychiatrists.

And even the psychiatrists would have to grope for explanations because their expertise is in mental disorders of individuals, not masses.

It cannot be claimed that there is such a thing as mass disquietude. There is disquietude only in certain segments of the population.

Even in these sections there is no conscious disquietude, only a scarcely perceptible change in behavior that cannot be ascribed to anything in particular.

Who knows why a certain number of potential consumers did not become actual consumers of certain consumer goods during a certain period? Who knows whether they stayed out of the market because they had everything they needed, or whether they merely were tired of acquisitions and taking a breathing spell?

If someone polled them to learn what was behind their behavior, they would have no idea. If confronted with a list of possible things that might have influenced them subconsciously, they might designate such possible causes as advancing age, war news from Viet Nam, putting away money for the cost of college education for their children, or being too preoccupied with summer relaxation and recreation to think about their obligation to uphold the affluent society.

This has been the puzzle for every generation of business analysts, especially when the stock market behaved erratically.

Unable to look into the minds of men, they have looked at stock market averages, freight-car loadings, gross national product and the index of wholesale prices.

What they're looking for isn't there.

Meet The Wife

By Truman Twill

See The Candidate's wife.

She is smiling.

Why is she smiling?

Because she thinks it is funny that her husband is running for office.

Why does she think so.

Because she knows her husband.

What does she know that makes her smile?

She knows he is not a Leader of Men.

What else does she know?

She knows he gets sick at his stomach when he gets excited.

What else does she know?

She knows he is running for office because he is running to keep out of reach of the sheriff and if the sheriff is chasing him and he is running for office it will be like a scene from an old Keystone Kop movie.

Does she know other things that amuse her?

Yes, she knows that until they start to cast the ballots she will be expected to play the role of The Candidate's wife.

Why should that be amusing?

Because she will be part of the Image and she never has thought of herself as part of The Image before. It will be like play-acting, only the curtain will not drop until the campaign is over.

Will she like this?

She thinks she will. This is because she is the wife of a young candidate, not one of the old war-horses who has been hardened by battle.

Experience is disillusioning them?

It sure is. A candidate's wife must always look as if she had just finished doing the family washing in a party gown and is hysterical with joy. She must never look as if she had got out of bed that morning feeling like warmed-over death and ready to throw up if one more over-friendly political associate gets fresh with her.

Things like that happen?

All the time. The worst part of it is that no matter what happens The Candidate's wife must be jolly, friendly, remember everybody's name, never talk out of turn, always look young enough to be her husband's teen-age daughter and be a combination glamor girl and home-maker.

How about children?

The Candidate's wife either must have her own or hire stand-ins from a model agency. Voters expect candidates to have children.

What about this candidate's wife—what did she do?

She hired models because her own kids are ugly like their old man and would alienate voters. This is one reason she is smiling. She has just seen the first pictures taken of The Candidate and His Family. Beyootiful!

Too Many Forget Lessons Of History

By DAVID LAWRENCE

David Lawrence

Patrick Gordon Walker, formerly British foreign secretary and now an informal emissary of the British Labor government, has just made a speech in this country calling on the United States to join in the acceptance of Communist China by the United Nations. This is typical of the basic misunderstandings between the United States and its European allies which are largely responsible for the weakness of the United Nations — its failure to deal with the menace in Southeast Asia and particularly with the war in Viet Nam.

Mr. Walker said the United States is confused "between recognition of a state and approval of a state." He must be aware that this point has been threshed out again and again and that, if the question were simply a matter of recognizing an established government, the regime in Peking would long ago have been accepted.

The problem is one that a former British foreign secretary probably well knows, but apparently chooses to disregard. The fact is that Red China performed a flagrant act of aggression in Korea by attacking the armed forces of the United Nations itself, and has refused to carry out the original agreement reached in 1943 calling for a "free and independent" Korea.

TO THIS DAY, the Soviet and Chinese Communists control North Korea, and there has been no atonement for the wanton act of aggression and war against the United Nations forces which caused the loss of hundreds of thousands of lives, including more than 54,000 Americans.

The United Nations General Assembly, in a formal resolution on Feb. 1, 1951, declared that the Red Chinese government, "by giving direct aid and assistance to those who were already committing aggression in Korea and by engaging in hostilities against United Nations forces there, has itself engaged in aggression in Korea."

Mr. Walker now says that "the proper question is not whether China is a good or agreeable state, but whether its regime is firm and established."

This amounts to an encouragement of dictatorships and totalitarian regimes, and a total disregard of international morality. Certainly there can be no progress toward world peace if aggression goes unpunished and is, in effect, rewarded.

The British government, of course, recognized the Red China regime before the aggression in Korea occurred in 1950. Since then, no important nation has extended recognition except France, which did so for materialistic reasons early in 1964, much to the consternation of the free world.

THE UNITED STATES in the past, before extending recognition, has not been guided by whether a government is necessarily friendly to this country.

The real question today, however, is whether an aggressor should go scot-free and whether the United Nations shall grant recognition to a government that has never atoned for its sins of aggression and is, in fact, engaged today in a war of aggression against South Viet Nam.

The issue at stake is an important one, because it can have an influence on the future peace of the world.

The history of what happened in Korea also shows a black mark on the Soviet government. It deliberately boasted in 1950 at a United Nations meeting that arms had been supplied by Moscow to the Red Chinese to carry on the war in Korea. It was the duty of the United Nations then to expel the Soviet government from the organization for this act of treason, but nothing was done about it.

MR. WALKER was scheduled to confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk this week but in addressing a meeting of the American Society of Corporate Secretaries at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., on Monday, he said it is desirable for the United States to sit down at the conference table with representatives of the Communist terrorists in South Vie Nam. He declared that the war is one in which "there can be neither victory nor defeat and which must in the end be settled by negotiations in which there is some compromise."

It's precisely this kind of talk that gives encouragement to the aggressors. Such faulty reasoning caused another British government to compromise at Munich in 1938. Hitler misconstrued this as a sign of weakness and assumed that Britain would not intervene militarily if he attacked Poland. The British might have averted the world war that broke out in 1939 if they had shown the same firmness and resoluteness as are being manifested in American foreign policy today.

Mr. Walker might re-read the history of that era. The lesson is that aggressors are never deterred from further attacks by compromise settlements. Negotiations are futile with terroristic regimes whose written agreements have proved worthless.

'Okay! You Did Great With De Gaulle, Hubert—But MUST You Greet Me Every Day With Bon Jour, Mon President'?'

Johnson Holds Unusual Dinner Meeting

By VICTOR RIESEL

President Johnson ran a reverse teach-in dinner the other night. It was unique right down to the grape cheese. It was full of surprises, but went unreported, though the State dining room was filled with many of the nation's most influential men.

Victor Riesel

The guests ranged all the way from Socialist A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, to the staid Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel. All agreed the U.S. was a fine place to live in, and the dollar was sound, and this land is winning the battle of the balance of payments — meaning we're now beginning to pour less money into the world and getting back more than in the past.

What made the filet of beef banquet unique was Mr. Johnson's new technique in getting the men to stand up and tell him bluntly what they had on their minds.

As each of the 60 business and labor leaders left the cocktail room for the dinner hall, they drew numbers for their seats. There were 10 tables, each with 10 chairs.

AT EACH TABLE in addition to some member of the Cabinet or vital federal bureau, was a bright young chap out of one of the government services. He was the host. Sort of a table social director to make certain the men of industry and the chiefs of labor got around to a first-name basis.

As they were seated, a waiter came around to each table with a bowl. In it were 10 slips. This was as gingerly handled as though it were a bottle of Marquis de Montesque Armagnac. On one of the slips there appeared the word "Speaker." On the other nine was written Writer."

Thus no one knew in advance what his role was to be. The guest who drew the "speaker" slip was expected to rise and shine — with any comment on or critique of the domestic economy or any suggestions for keeping the prosperity and swinging the balance of payments in America's favor.

THE NINE at each table who drew the "writer" slips were asked to send their thoughts and proposals along to the President, on paper, after they returned home.

The speakers had to hold their fire until they had heard the President, Secretary of the Treasury Fowler, Secretary of Labor William Wirtz, Secretary of Commerce Connor, and a string of other specialists tell them that now the basic domestic issue is cutting down the money this country is pouring into the world and getting more back in.

Some of those who were there for the off-the-record stag dinner that night, June 22, talked of the session as a blend of evangelism, teach-in-ism and fraternalism among men who sometimes do battle on the nation's social and political fronts.

There was the moment when A. Philip Randolph, veteran Negro leader, arose, "speaker" slip in hand. Rarely if ever has "Phil" Randolph unleashed a speech in his sonorous voice — especially in front of American presidents — without reference to the civil rights resolution. Yet that night, for the first time in 50 years, he put aside the struggle of his people.

HE URGED the President to give strong financial support to the nation's railroads. He spoke of the need for revitalizing them with federal aid. Eloquently, the head of the Sleeping Car Porters talked of the imagination and daring the early railroad builders had shown in spanning the land. Now he said the time had come for the government to help them survive.

He was followed by husky, blond, Viking-like Paul Hall, leader of the Seafarers International Union. Hall told the President bluntly that some of the government officials were breaking a pledge which Mr. Johnson himself had given when the labor people agreed to load wheat on ships for Russia.

Mr. Johnson had promised that 50 per cent of the shipment would be dispatched in American freighters. Now some presidential advisers were urging that Russia be permitted to buy wheat here and have it shipped in rate-cutting foreign vessels, beyond the 50-50 agreement, just to lower the cost to the U.S.S.R. The President made a note.

Another speaker rose. He was Henry Ford. He had just returned from Europe. The dollar was sound, he had found. The country was sound. And so it went.

All agreed that voluntary action had closed the floodgates on the outflow of American money. And that things would get better despite the war in Asia.

The President got his consensus on the home front — general agreement that prosperous years were ahead.

And even the psychiatrists would have to grope for explanations because their expertise is in mental disorders of individuals, not masses.

It cannot be claimed that there is such a thing as mass disquietude. There is disquietude only in certain segments of the population.

Even in these sections there is no conscious disquietude, only a scarcely perceptible change in behavior that cannot be ascribed to anything in particular.

Who knows why a certain number of potential consumers did not become actual consumers of certain consumer goods during a certain period? Who knows whether they stayed out of the market because they had everything they needed, or whether they merely were tired of acquisitions and taking a breathing spell?

If someone polled them to learn what was behind their behavior, they would have no idea. If confronted with a list of possible things that might have influenced them subconsciously, they might designate such possible causes as advancing age, war news from Viet Nam, putting away money for the cost of college education for their children, or being too preoccupied with summer relaxation and recreation to think about their obligation to uphold the affluent society.

This has been the puzzle for every generation of business analysts, especially when the stock market behaved erratically.

Unable to look into the minds of men, they have looked at stock market averages, freight-car loadings, gross national product and the index of wholesale prices.

What they're looking for isn't there.

Meet The Wife

By Truman Twill

See The Candidate's wife.

She is smiling.

Why is she smiling?

Because she thinks it is funny that her husband is running for office.

Why does she think so.

Because she knows her husband.

What does she know that makes her smile?

She knows he is not a Leader of Men.

What else does she know?

She knows he gets sick at his stomach when he gets excited.

What else does she know?

She knows he is running for office because he is running to keep out of reach of the sheriff and if the sheriff is chasing him and he is running for office it will be like a scene from an old Keystone Kop movie.

Does she know other things that amuse her?

Yes, she knows that until they start to cast the ballots she will be expected to play the role of The Candidate's wife.

Why should that be amusing?

Because she will be part of the Image and she never has thought of herself as part of The Image before. It will be like play-acting, only the curtain will not drop until the campaign is over.

Will she like this?

She thinks she will. This is because she is the wife of a young candidate, not one of the old war-horses who has been hardened by battle.

Experience is disillusioning them?

It sure is. A candidate's wife must always look as if she had just finished doing the family washing in a party gown and is hysterical with joy. She must never look as if she had got out of bed that morning feeling like warmed-over death and ready to throw up if one more over-friendly political associate gets fresh with her.

Things like that happen?

All the time. The worst part of it is that no matter what happens The Candidate's wife must be jolly, friendly, remember everybody's name, never talk out of turn, always look young enough to be her husband's teen-age daughter and be a combination glamor girl and home-maker.

How about children?

The Candidate's wife either must have her own or hire stand-ins from a model agency. Voters expect candidates to have children.

What about this candidate's wife—what did she do?

She hired models because her own kids are ugly like their old man and would alienate voters. This is one reason she is smiling. She has just seen the first pictures taken of The Candidate and His Family. Beyootiful!

The Hall of Fame For Great Americans was established in 1900 on the campus of New York University and now commemorates 89 persons — 22 of whom were named the first year. New names are voted on every five years by a College of Electors of about 100 eminent men and women. In 1960, three great Americans were entered — the inventor, Thomas A. Edison; the composer, Edward Alexander MacDowell, and the author, Henry David Thoreau.

Too Many Forget Lessons Of History

By DAVID LAWRENCE

David Lawrence

Patrick Gordon Walker, formerly British foreign secretary and now an informal emissary of the British Labor government, has just made a speech in this country calling on the United States to join in the acceptance of Communist China by the United Nations. This is typical of the basic misunderstandings between the United States and its European allies which are largely responsible for the weakness of the United Nations — its failure to deal with the menace in Southeast Asia and particularly with the war in Viet Nam.

Mr. Walker said the United States is confused "between recognition of a state and approval of a state." He must be aware that this point has been threshed out again and again and that, if the question were simply a matter of recognizing an established government, the regime in Peking would long ago have been accepted.

The problem is one that a former British foreign secretary probably well knows, but apparently chooses to disregard. The fact is that Red China performed a flagrant act of aggression in Korea by attacking the armed forces of the United Nations itself, and has refused to carry out the original agreement reached in 1943 calling for a "free and independent" Korea.

TO THIS DAY, the Soviet and Chinese Communists control North Korea, and there has been no atonement for the wanton act of aggression and war against the United Nations forces which caused the loss of hundreds of thousands of lives, including more than 54,000 Americans.

The United Nations General Assembly, in a formal resolution on Feb. 1, 1951, declared that the Red Chinese government, "by giving direct aid and assistance to those who were already committing aggression in Korea and by engaging in hostilities against United Nations forces there, has itself engaged in aggression in Korea."

Mr. Walker now says that "the proper question is not whether China is a good or agreeable state, but whether its regime is firm and established."

This amounts to an encouragement of dictatorships and totalitarian regimes, and a total disregard of international morality. Certainly there can be no progress toward world peace if aggression goes unpunished and is, in effect, rewarded.

The British government, of course, recognized the Red China regime before the aggression in Korea occurred in 1950. Since then, no important nation has extended recognition except France, which did so for materialistic reasons early in 1964, much to the consternation of the free world.

THE UNITED STATES in the past, before extending recognition, has not been guided by whether a government is necessarily friendly to this country.

The real question today, however, is whether an aggressor should go scot-free and whether the United Nations shall grant recognition to a government that has never atoned for its sins of aggression and is, in fact, engaged today in a war of aggression against South Viet Nam.

The issue at stake is an important one, because it can have an influence on the future peace of the world.

The history of what happened in Korea also shows a black mark on the Soviet government. It deliberately boasted in 1950 at a United Nations meeting that arms had been supplied by Moscow to the Red Chinese to carry on the war in Korea. It was the duty of the United Nations then to expel the Soviet government from the organization for this act of treason, but nothing was done about it.

MR. WALKER was scheduled to confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk this week but in addressing a meeting of the American Society of Corporate Secretaries at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., on Monday, he said it is desirable for the United States to sit down at the conference table with representatives of the Communist terrorists in South Vie Nam. He declared that the war is one in which "there can be neither victory nor defeat and which must in the end be settled by negotiations in which there is some compromise."

It's precisely this kind of talk that gives encouragement to the aggressors. Such faulty reasoning caused another British government to compromise at Munich in 1938. Hitler misconstrued this as a sign of weakness and assumed that Britain would not intervene militarily if he attacked Poland. The British might have averted the world war that broke out in 1939 if they had shown the same firmness and resoluteness as are being manifested in American foreign policy today.

Mr. Walker might re-read the history of that era. The lesson is that aggressors are never deterred from further attacks by compromise settlements. Negotiations are futile with terroristic regimes whose written agreements have proved worthless.

'Okay! You Did Great With De Gaulle, Hubert—But MUST You Greet Me Every Day With Bon Jour, Mon President'?'

Johnson Holds Unusual Dinner Meeting

By VICTOR RIESEL

President Johnson ran a reverse teach-in dinner the other night. It was unique right down to the grape cheese. It was full of surprises, but went unreported, though the State dining room was filled with many of the nation's most influential men.

Victor Riesel

The guests ranged all the way from Socialist A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, to the staid Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel. All agreed the U.S. was a fine place to live in, and the dollar was sound, and this land is winning the battle of the balance of payments — meaning we're now beginning to pour less money into the world and getting back more than in the past.

What made the filet of beef banquet unique was Mr. Johnson's new technique in getting the men to stand up and tell him bluntly what they had on their minds.

As each of the 60 business and labor leaders left the cocktail room for the dinner hall, they drew numbers for their seats. There were 10 tables, each with 10 chairs.

AT EACH TABLE in addition to some member of the Cabinet or vital federal bureau, was a bright young chap out of one of the government services. He was the host. Sort of a table social director to make certain the men of industry and the chiefs of labor got around to a first-name basis.

As they were seated, a waiter came around to each table with a bowl. In it were 10 slips. This was as gingerly handled as though it were a bottle of Marquis de Montesque Armagnac. On one of the slips there appeared the word "Speaker." On the other nine was written Writer."

Thus no one knew in advance what his role was to be. The guest who drew the "speaker" slip was expected to rise and shine — with any comment on or critique of the domestic economy or any suggestions for keeping the prosperity and swinging the balance of payments in America's favor.

THE NINE at each table who drew the "writer" slips were asked to send their thoughts and proposals along to the President, on paper, after they returned home.

The speakers had to hold their fire until they had heard the President, Secretary of the Treasury Fowler, Secretary of Labor William Wirtz, Secretary of Commerce Connor, and a string of other specialists tell them that now the basic domestic issue is cutting down the money this country is pouring into the world and getting more back in.

Some of those who were there for the off-the-record stag dinner that night, June 22, talked of the session as a blend of evangelism, teach-in-ism and fraternalism among men who sometimes do battle on the nation's social and political fronts.

There was the moment when A. Philip Randolph, veteran Negro leader, arose, "speaker" slip in hand. Rarely if ever has "Phil" Randolph unleashed a speech in his sonorous voice — especially in front of American presidents — without reference to the civil rights resolution. Yet that night, for the first time in 50 years, he put aside the struggle of his people.

HE URGED the President to give strong financial support to the nation's railroads. He spoke of the need for revitalizing them with federal aid. Eloquently, the head of the Sleeping Car Porters talked of the imagination and daring the early railroad builders had shown in spanning the land. Now he said the time had come for the government to help them survive.

He was followed by husky, blond, Viking-like Paul Hall, leader of the Seafarers International Union. Hall told the President bluntly that some of the government officials were breaking a pledge which Mr. Johnson himself had given when the labor people agreed to load wheat on ships for Russia.

Mr. Johnson had promised that 50 per cent of the shipment would be dispatched in American freighters. Now some presidential advisers were urging that Russia be permitted to buy wheat here and have it shipped in rate-cutting foreign vessels, beyond the 50-50 agreement, just to lower the cost to the U.S.S.R. The President made a note.

Another speaker rose. He was Henry Ford. He had just returned from Europe. The dollar was sound, he had found. The country was sound. And so it went.

All agreed that voluntary action had closed the floodgates on the outflow of American money. And that things would get better despite the war in Asia.

The President got his consensus on the home front — general agreement that prosperous years were ahead.

Officer Does His Duty-Plus!

Patrolman Paul A. Burson demonstrated Thursday afternoon to an unidentified West Virginia woman driver and her youngsters how helpful a police officer can be for a motorist in distress.

It all began about 2:45 as a typical vignette of a hot summer afternoon. The woman backed her old station wagon off a private parking lot on E. 4th St. near Washington St. and there it stalled—blocking both traffic lanes.

Burson pulled up in a police cruiser as the woman struggled to start the auto with only ineffectual, sick noises from a tired battery. The woman obviously was agitated by the fact her auto was blocking both traffic lanes and holding up a police cruiser.

Finally, a youngster about 10 climbed out of the old auto and attempted to push it free of the traffic lane, but it would not budge. Leaving his cruiser, the patrolman joined in the effort. Together the boy and the officer pushed the car to the junction of Washington St. and started it coasting downgrade.

But that was not the end of the incident. When the woman put the coasting car into gear to start the motor, smoke erupted from underneath the hood. She and her children jumped out of the car, stalled in the traffic lane again, as the smoke and flames became heavier.

The woman waved her arms to the patrolman, who was passing the intersection as the traffic jam cleared. He radioed headquarters for a fire truck and then turned into Crook Alley, shortest route to the fire scene.

He alighted from his cruiser at E. Church Alley and Washington St., directly behind the YMCA, took a fire extinguisher out of the trunk, raised the hood of the auto and extinguished the flames quickly. A moment later a truck arrived from Central fire station and the firemen took over the investigation.

Perhaps the woman was too distracted to thank the officer, who left the scene shortly after quelling the fire.

But here's our own "well done" to another officer who went a little beyond the line of duty to be helpful.

There was one traffic death in January and another in June. The other four months were death-free. January, April and June each saw three pedestrian injuries. There were two in March and four in May. No pedestrians were hurt in February.

The data is used in the local department's record system and also forwarded to the FBI for use in its nationwide crime and accident reports.

Crash Damages Gardendale Car

A Gardendale auto was damaged in a collision in downtown East Liverpool shortly before noon Thursday, police reported.

The mishap on W. 5th St. involved a 1963 auto driven by Leonard D. Miller, 42, of Gaddis St., Gardendale, and a 1965 model tractor - trailer rig operated by Ralph W. Oyster, 45, of Alliance, officers said.

Oyster told Patrolman Paul A. Burson he was pulling from a parking space when the left rear tire of his trailer hit the auto, damaging the right front fender and bumper. The rig was undamaged. It is owned by CCC Highway, Inc., of Cleveland.

Timed at 11:13 a.m., the collision occured on W. 5th St. 70 feet west of Market St., officers said.

Sen. Young Asks Nuclear Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, told the Senate Thursday the United States must seek a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons "before the most terrible of all wars—perhaps final war—is precipitated."

Young said the time has arrived for the United States to invite the Soviet Union, Red China, England and France, as well as other nations with a potential nuclear capacity, to join in working out such a treaty.

Young praised the recent Senate speech by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N. Y., urging that efforts to seek a treaty against proliferation of nuclear weapons be given "central priority" in U. S. policy.

Sen. Young Asks Nuclear Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, told the Senate Thursday the United States must seek a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons "before the most terrible of all wars—perhaps final war—is precipitated."

Young said the time has arrived for the United States to invite the Soviet Union, Red China, England and France, as well as other nations with a potential nuclear capacity, to join in working out such a treaty.

Young praised the recent Senate speech by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N. Y., urging that efforts to seek a treaty against proliferation of nuclear weapons be given "central priority" in U. S. policy.

Fight Pushed In California River Issue

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — While the nation races to save some of its remaining wild rivers, California conservationists are in an 11th hour fight over one of the state's last wilderness streams.

The State Water Right Board, after three years of study, hearing and controversy, has approved plans for a series of water and power dams on the Middle Fork of the Feather River.

Construction crews will move onto the river in the rugged Sierra next year if the Federal Power Commission, the sole remaining obstacle, approves the project and grants a permit.

Four water districts seeking irrigation supplies for rice farms in the Sacramento Valley say the project is needed to provide low cost water and would offer added recreation opportunities at its reservoirs.

Conservationists say it would ruin one of California's finest wild trout streams to give 1,200 farmers free water that could as easily be obtained from a nearby state reservoir or elsewhere.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS AND GRANDPA

Q. As a traffic officer I have noticed that many elderly people simply ignore traffic signals. Could it be that they don't care what happens?

A. Doctors engaged in geriatric research (problems of the elderly) have noticed this also. Such behavior might be explained in several ways: singleness of purpose; lack of awareness that vehicles are threats; or a tendency to what may be called "indifferent suicide." Some elderly persons seem to show little interest in the continuation of life.

ADHESIVE POWDERS FOR DENTURES

Q. Is there anything in denture powders that would be harmful if such powders were used in excessive amounts?

A. No. The chief danger with dentures is possible damage to supporting tissues which may be incurred by wearing of ill-fitting dentures which require more and more adhesive to keep them in place.

Fight Pushed In California River Issue

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — While the nation races to save some of its remaining wild rivers, California conservationists are in an 11th hour fight over one of the state's last wilderness streams.

The State Water Right Board, after three years of study, hearing and controversy, has approved plans for a series of water and power dams on the Middle Fork of the Feather River.

Construction crews will move onto the river in the rugged Sierra next year if the Federal Power Commission, the sole remaining obstacle, approves the project and grants a permit.

Four water districts seeking irrigation supplies for rice farms in the Sacramento Valley say the project is needed to provide low cost water and would offer added recreation opportunities at its reservoirs.

Conservationists say it would ruin one of California's finest wild trout streams to give 1,200 farmers free water that could as easily be obtained from a nearby state reservoir or elsewhere.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS AND GRANDPA

Q. As a traffic officer I have noticed that many elderly people simply ignore traffic signals. Could it be that they don't care what happens?

A. Doctors engaged in geriatric research (problems of the elderly) have noticed this also. Such behavior might be explained in several ways: singleness of purpose; lack of awareness that vehicles are threats; or a tendency to what may be called "indifferent suicide." Some elderly persons seem to show little interest in the continuation of life.

ADHESIVE POWDERS FOR DENTURES

Q. Is there anything in denture powders that would be harmful if such powders were used in excessive amounts?

A. No. The chief danger with dentures is possible damage to supporting tissues which may be incurred by wearing of ill-fitting dentures which require more and more adhesive to keep them in place.

Algeria Seen Switching To Neutral Role

ALGIERS (AP) — The new Algerian regime, in the opinion of Western diplomats here, is moving toward a more neutral position in world affairs coupled with an anti-Communist policy at home.

This can have a wide effect on political relations among the nations of the African-Asian community.

It can lead many nations to take a new look at the "second Bandung" summit, now scheduled for Nov. 5.

Cherif Belkacem, minister of education and information in the new regime, served notice of the switch in domestic policy in an interview with the official newspaper.

Belkacem put it this way:

"We have known strange professors who, incapable of achieving the revolution in their own countries, pretend to be doing it here, according to plans which have nothing to do with Algeria.

"We have put them aside. We do not want them as guides. They are free to go where they wish, but not to indoctrinate our youth."

Col. Houari Boumedienne's regime has expelled a number of French, Chinese and Egyptian Communists who acted as advisers to deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Two correspondents of the Paris Communist paper L'Humanite also have been expelled.

On the other hand, Fidel Castro in Cuba and Sekou Toure in Guinea have issued statements attacking Boumedienne. Castro called Boumedienne a "military despot, a rightist, a reactionary, and an enemy of socialism and the Algerian revolution."

Boumedienne's military regime ordered Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, to close its Algiers office Thursday because it distributed copies of Castro's speech.

Toure praised Ben Bella and said he hoped Algerians will avoid a "Congolization" of their country.

This points to closer relations with French-speaking states of "black Africa" which refused to attend the Afro-Asian session as originally scheduled here June 29.

It also points to better relations with Algeria's neighbors in the Arab world, Tunisia to the east and Morocco to the west.

The new regime is expected to tread a careful course between East and West, much in the manner of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Flood

of 664.5 feet mean sea level, Houghton explained. When the river hits nine feet on the new gauge, it will be equivalent to a mean sea level elevation of 673.5 feet.

The March 1936 flood, biggest of all time in the Ohio Valley, would have been equivalent to a 29.9-foot reading on the new gauge. On the gauge at former Dam 8, the 1936 flood had a reading of 51.2 feet.

Houghton said the flood of Oct. 17, 1954, would have hit 20.8 feet on the new gauge, while the Jan. 23, 1959, flood would have peaked at 18.5 feet and the flood of March 11, 1964, would have hit 22 feet.

Houghton pointed out the Federal - State Food Forecasting Service will continue to issue crest forecasts for the benefit of East Liverpool during times of high water, referenced to the new river gauge.

He said a working agreement has been reached under which the East Liverpool police department will be responsible for taking periodic readings on the gauge and telephoning the information to the office at Pittsburgh.

Forecasts of a stage of nine feet or more will be furnished the police department to be relayed publicly and for official use "in order that necessary action may be taken to prevent loss of life and hold flood damage to a minimum," he said.

Police will relay Houghton's forecasts to news media, city officials, Red Cross officers and others concerned when high water rampages in the Ohio Valley.

Senate Meets Briefly To Authorize Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate met today for just three seconds, for the sole purpose of recessing over the July 4 holiday.

Japanese List Bomb Plot On U.S. Embassy

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese Communist party newspaper Akahata reported today that Trotskyist elements plan to bomb the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo.

Akahata said it obtained the information from "highly reliable" sources.

The Metropolitan police said they obtained such information about a month ago.

An embassy spokesman said, "We have been informed recently from the Tokyo Metropolitan Police" of the possibility of violence. He added the embassy has taken no extra precaution because the safety of the building "is with the Japanese police which is maintaining its usual vigilance."

Algeria Seen Switching To Neutral Role

ALGIERS (AP) — The new Algerian regime, in the opinion of Western diplomats here, is moving toward a more neutral position in world affairs coupled with an anti-Communist policy at home.

This can have a wide effect on political relations among the nations of the African-Asian community.

It can lead many nations to take a new look at the "second Bandung" summit, now scheduled for Nov. 5.

Cherif Belkacem, minister of education and information in the new regime, served notice of the switch in domestic policy in an interview with the official newspaper.

Belkacem put it this way:

"We have known strange professors who, incapable of achieving the revolution in their own countries, pretend to be doing it here, according to plans which have nothing to do with Algeria.

"We have put them aside. We do not want them as guides. They are free to go where they wish, but not to indoctrinate our youth."

Col. Houari Boumedienne's regime has expelled a number of French, Chinese and Egyptian Communists who acted as advisers to deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Two correspondents of the Paris Communist paper L'Humanite also have been expelled.

On the other hand, Fidel Castro in Cuba and Sekou Toure in Guinea have issued statements attacking Boumedienne. Castro called Boumedienne a "military despot, a rightist, a reactionary, and an enemy of socialism and the Algerian revolution."

Boumedienne's military regime ordered Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, to close its Algiers office Thursday because it distributed copies of Castro's speech.

Toure praised Ben Bella and said he hoped Algerians will avoid a "Congolization" of their country.

This points to closer relations with French-speaking states of "black Africa" which refused to attend the Afro-Asian session as originally scheduled here June 29.

It also points to better relations with Algeria's neighbors in the Arab world, Tunisia to the east and Morocco to the west.

The new regime is expected to tread a careful course between East and West, much in the manner of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Flood

of 664.5 feet mean sea level, Houghton explained. When the river hits nine feet on the new gauge, it will be equivalent to a mean sea level elevation of 673.5 feet.

The March 1936 flood, biggest of all time in the Ohio Valley, would have been equivalent to a 29.9-foot reading on the new gauge. On the gauge at former Dam 8, the 1936 flood had a reading of 51.2 feet.

Houghton said the flood of Oct. 17, 1954, would have hit 20.8 feet on the new gauge, while the Jan. 23, 1959, flood would have peaked at 18.5 feet and the flood of March 11, 1964, would have hit 22 feet.

Houghton pointed out the Federal - State Food Forecasting Service will continue to issue crest forecasts for the benefit of East Liverpool during times of high water, referenced to the new river gauge.

He said a working agreement has been reached under which the East Liverpool police department will be responsible for taking periodic readings on the gauge and telephoning the information to the office at Pittsburgh.

Forecasts of a stage of nine feet or more will be furnished the police department to be relayed publicly and for official use "in order that necessary action may be taken to prevent loss of life and hold flood damage to a minimum," he said.

Police will relay Houghton's forecasts to news media, city officials, Red Cross officers and others concerned when high water rampages in the Ohio Valley.

Japanese List Bomb Plot On U.S. Embassy

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese Communist party newspaper Akahata reported today that Trotskyist elements plan to bomb the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo.

Akahata said it obtained the information from "highly reliable" sources.

The Metropolitan police said they obtained such information about a month ago.

An embassy spokesman said, "We have been informed recently from the Tokyo Metropolitan Police" of the possibility of violence. He added the embassy has taken no extra precaution because the safety of the building "is with the Japanese police which is maintaining its usual vigilance."

Miss Joan Carol Tullis, Stephen W. Cooper Marry

A chapel-length pyramid train complemented the gown of Miss Joan Carol Tullis when she became the bride of Stephen Wendell Cooper last Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Norwood Methodist Church at Marietta.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Tullis of Marietta, former local residents. Her husband's parents are Atty. and Mrs. Joseph W. C. Cooper of North St.

Open church was observed for the double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Floyd Powell, pastor, before an altar banked with white flowers, palms and candelabra. Floral bows marked the family pews. Mrs. Ronald Boyd was organist.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown of silk organza was fashioned with a scoop neckline, re-embroidered with Alencon lace highlighted by loops of seed pearls, and long, tapered sleeves. The sheath skirt, inverted with a front scallop, was banded with wide scalloped lace and pearls. The train was detailed with lace. Her three-tier bouffant veil of silk illusion was attached to a lace rose, edged and centered with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and daisies.

Miss Janis Tullis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and appeared in a floor-length sheath of peacock silk chiffon styled with a white lace bodice and short sleeves. A flat self-bow comp accented the back waistline. She wore a matching color chiffon, petaled rose headpiece and theater veil and carried a Colonial nosegay of white daisies.

Bridesmaids were Miss Marya Lytle of Marietta, Miss Patricia Traud of Cincinnati and Miss Betsy Sams of Grove City, Pa. Their costumes, flowers and headpieces were identical to that of the maid of honor.

Roger Cooper served as his brother's best man. Ushers were James Baxter of Portsmouth and William Brokaw and Bruce Burbick of East Liverpool.

MRS. STEPHEN COOPER
Weds In Marietta Ceremony.

A reception followed in the church parlor, where guests were registered from Athens, Columbus, Portsmouth, Arlington, Va.; Rochester, N. Y., and Grove City.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier cake. White tapers in silver candelabra placed on a lace centerpiece of white summer flowers completed the setting.

Aides were Miss Elizabeth Baxter, Miss Martha Baxter, Miss Linda Cole, Miss Linda Frum and Miss Mary Rupp.

The bride was graduated from Marietta High School in 1961 and from Ohio University in 1965. She is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority and plans to teach in the East Liverpool school system.

Her husband attended Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pa., and Kent State University. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He is a life insurance agent for the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co.

The newlyweds will reside at 2515 St. Clair Ave.

Ann Louise Sixt Marries In Double-Ring Ceremony

A college romance culminated in marriage when Miss Ann Louise Sixt became the bride of David E. Neibert last Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. John L. Clark, pastor, officiating for the double - ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Sixt, 738 Cain St., and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Neibert of Dayton.

Miss Carolyn Kyle played a half - hour recital of organ music. James Lang sang "I'll Never Walk Alone," "O Perfect Love" and "Ave Maria." The altar was banked with gladioli palms, ferns and seven - branch candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a custom designed gown by Neal Couture of New York. Styled in silk l'organza, it featured an illusion neckline accented with Alencon lace appliques and long, pointed sleeves. A sheath - effect was fashioned in the front of the skirt and the fullness of the back conformed into a chapel train.

Her custom - made headpiece was formed of white roses and lily - of - the - valley arched into a crown and holding a veil of silk illusion. She carried a white prayer book topped with an arrangement of white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Eleanor Sixt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and appeared in a dress of mint green Venetian lace, created with an Empire waistline, scoop neckline, short sleeves and full - length sheath skirt of chiffon.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Osborn of Johnstown, Ohio; Miss Sheila Colfer, Cleveland, and Miss Patricia Daily. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, except in pale yellow chiffon and lace.

Their headpieces were matching chiffon pleated pillboxes with theater veils. They carried baskets of white daisies. Gifts from the bride were silver charms. Attire for all the bridal party was designed by Couture.

Tammie Turner, flower girl, wore a floor - length gown of white silk l'organza styled with an Empire bodice accented with mint green streamers. Her crown was formed of daisies. She carried a basket of yellow daisies. Her gift from the bride was a string of pearls. Michael DiLoreto was ringbearer and received an identification bracelet.

MRS. DAVID NEIBERT
Will Reside In Oxford.

Walter Sharkey of Canton served as best man. Ushers were David Sixt, brother of the bride; Richard Neibert, the bridegroom's brother, and Larry Hodge of College Corner, Ohio.

Mrs. Sixt was attired in a lemon yellow, Belgian silk linen, three-piece ensemble created with a floor - length dinner skirt, styled with a side split. The jacket featured a Revere collar and the blouse was of lemon brocade. She wore a matching linen pillbox with veil.

Mrs. Neibert chose a two-piece ensemble of cocoa beige silk linen designed with a floor-length skirt. She wore a matching hat. Both costumes were complemented with white orchid corsages.

A reception for 200 followed at the Country Club, where Miss Jane Bendheim registered guests from Dayton, Columbus, Cleveland, Canton, Pittsburgh, New Castle, Altoona and Cincinnati.

The buffet table was centered with a tiered cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple. Arrangements of daisies, ivy and candelabra completed the setting.

For her honeymoon tour of the East, the bride wore a white silk linen jacket costume with tie silk print lining.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of East Liverpool High School and is a member of the senior class at Miami University, Oxford, where she is majoring in English, secondary education.

Johnson Policy Puzzles Leaders

EDITOR'S NOTE—The writer of this analysis has returned from a swing through Latin America, starting in the Dominican Republic and extending through South America.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnon has Latin-American political leaders in a state of stunned puzzlement, as if wondering whether the honeymoon of the Kennedy years is over. There is a new look, and it seems a tougher one.

Yet, despite a detectable touch of uneasiness among Latin-American leaders, the results may prove healthy. In fact, there is an excitement being churned up in Latin America about the future, as if in many cases a corner had been turned and the Americans were on the edge of something new and promising.

Even the U.S. military intervention in the Dominican Republic seems to have had a sobering effect. Washington seemed agreeably surprised at the lack of a chain of political explosions tied to the Dominican crisis. Yet, if the intervention had not happened, the qualitative changes in much of Latin America would have been less easy to detect.

The intervention, without the formality of inter-American approval in advance, was only one aspect of what appears to be a new direction for U.S. policy.

In effect, this policy would say to Latin-American leaders: "Pull up your socks and get to work. The United States can help with men and money, but what happens to your countries depends upon yourselves."

This has not been stated. It is an impression gained from unspoken attitudes among administration figures and Latin-American politicians and diplomats.

One hears from highly placed persons in Washington sentiments like this: "It's time for the Latin Americans to stop crying and stop blaming everything on the Yankees. They know what is wrong with them, and only they can change it."

Another impression gained among administration figures is that the United States has no intention of apologizing for actions it takes in its own national interests.

There is a hint of annoyance at the legalistic arguments of Latin-American governments which shy away from hemisphere political cooperation and which, in the words of one U.S. source, "refuse to face up to the fact that there is a hemisphere problem of Communist subversion."

Some governments oppose the special meeting of the Organization of American States scheduled next month in Rio de Janeiro. They seem fearful they will be asked to strengthen OAS machinery against subversion. The message they seem to be getting from the administration is that now is the time to face up to the problem, since they must do so in any event sooner or later.

Lisbon Lions Seat Officers

LISBON — Installation of officers, including John Eaholtz as president, highlighted the Ladies Night dinner meeting of the Lisbon Lions Club Wednesday at the club cottage.

Others installed were: William T. Hiscox, first vice president; Harry Morris, second vice president; Carroll Joseph, third vice president; John Hiscox, secretary; William Mundy, treasurer; Elbert Burson, tail twister; James Horger, lion tamer, and William Gibson and W. Fifty were present to hear Charles Bush, outgoing president, announce the various club projects for July.

The club will serve supper to the Lisbon chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Association Wednesday at the cottage, while on July 14 the club will be host to a Lisbon inter-service club picnic at Willow Grove Park.

The dinner phase of the meeting was featured by the unveiling of the club's new kitchen, which measures 20 by 24 feet. Entertainment was provided later by students of the Bonnie Lee Dancing School of Salem.

Gibson was program chairman and William Hiscox Jr. was dinner chairman for the outing.

Club members were to meet at 6 tonight at the City Loan office to distribute posters and merchants' tickets for the annual street fair July 21-24.

Ursu Starts Use Of Reflectorized Paint For Roads

County Engineer John Ursu said today at Lisbon reflectorized paint will be used for the first time in history in the current program of applying new center lines on about 150 miles of the county highway system.

Ursu pointed out the reflectorized paint is designed to shine brightly in auto headlines, allowing motorists to pick out curves and grades at great distances. Tiny glass particles generally are used to add the reflective quality to the paint.

Ursu said he also is experimenting with two different qualities of paint to find if the more expensive type will hold up through two seasons rather than the usual one. If one variety shows better staying qualities, it will mean roads normally will need relining only once in two years, he said.

The lining work has started on the highway sections not slated for resurfacing in the summer program. After the annual road work is complete, the lines will be applied on the highways that have been newly surfaced or given seal coats.

A City With Bitter Memories

By HAL BOYLE

QUI NHON, Viet Nam (AP) — Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:

This is a city under enemy siege where no American is pushing the panic button.

It is a city haunted by bitter memories and by many refugees. War, the orphan maker, orphans many here daily.

The bitter memories stem from the terrorist bombing last Feb. 10 of the Hotel Viet Cua. Viet Cong agents blew up the four-story building, then being used to quarter enlisted men of an aviation maintenance company. Some 23 Americans were among the 37 killed.

"We worked for 70 hours straight before others arrived to help us," said a survivor. "We had to level the building to get everybody out."

No trace of the hotel now exists. Its site is used as a truck parking lot, and newcomers here pass it by unheeding. But those who were here then still carry memory scars.

—:—

THERE IS only one really safe direction in this key city in the central Vietnamese lowlands between Saigon and Da Nang. That is seaward, for we still control its watery access.

But the area westward from here to Pleiku and the Cambodin and Laoian borders is a heartland of Viet Cong activity. Military leaders worry about the possibility that the enemy might try to snip the country in two along this axis in a dare-all gamble.

Qui Nhon, rebuilt since it was razed and looted in 1945, is a neat-looking city of French colonial design. Its streets are wide and well kept.

But it has become a city of tragedy and mass misery. Refugees flocking in for safety from outlying villages have nearly doubled its normal population of 50,000.

Its plight only reflects the situation throughout the province of Binh Dinh, which is the second largest of South Viet Nam's 44 provinces, and its most populous area with the exception of Saigon.

A large percentage of the refugees are Roman Catholics and strongly anti-Communist. Most have chosen to uproot their lives and flee here rather than cooperate with the guerrillas in their native villages.

The refugees are huddled in 25 camps throughout the province. One of the seven camps here houses 10,000 homeless men, women and children.

They dwell behind barbed wire in abject conditions. They are fed and given what clothing is available and about five cents a day each to care for their other needs. Disease flourishes.

—:—

A TALE to be taken with a grain of salt:

Millions of propaganda leaflets have been dropped in enemy territory in hope of spreading disunity in the ranks of the Viet Cong.

One defector turned up carrying a bundle of the leaflets.

A psychological warfare officer questioned him as to whether his mind had been swayed by the leaflets.

"No, I can't read or write," said the defector. "My commander ordered me to go around and pick up all these pieces of paper — and I just got tired of doing it."

Take Long Holiday

Ohio Legislators Weigh Late Session Next Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers have departed from the Statehouse for an extended July 4 holiday weekend but they may have to make up the lost time next week.

Legislative leaders spoke Thursday of a possible Friday session to compensate for the late return on Tuesday. They said this would help relieve the crush of bills leading to the waning days of the assembly, now in its seventh month.

Bills to curb monopolistic practices in the dairy industry and to stabilize the Highway Patrol pension plan drew the lawmakers' attention Thursday.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill that would ban "loss leader" dairy sales by chain stores and supermarkets. Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, and other supporters said the proposal would permit small, independent dairymen to survive in the highly competitive market.

Sargus told the Senate the "loss" sales are designed to lure customers into stores with the expectation they will make other purchases. "This means the smaller dairies also have to sell below costs or go out of business," he said.

Opponents included Sen. Ed Garrigan, R-Summit, who said the legislation would increase milk prices and at the same time "protect the inefficient and defend the use of outdated equipment."

Representatives gave their approval to the measure to boost payments in the Highway Patrol pension fund and to increase benefits for widows and orphans of members.

Widows' pensions would go from $60 a month to $90 and those of orphans from $30 to $90 monthly.

Contributions from patrolmen would advance from five to seven per cent and the state's from five to not less than nine.

In other actions, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

—Provide a maximum fine of $200 and six months in jail for making false threats to damage property.

—Change the official name of beauty parlors to beauty salons and tighten licensing regulations.

—Permit the sale of 11 acres of Massillon State Hospital land to Peoples Cartage, Inc., Massillon, for expansion.

—Authorize city planning commissions to receive federal, state, and local funds.

Senators voted to extend the terms of village solicitors to four years, convey 23 acres of land to the Canton City School District, appropriate $500,000 to pay state criminal costs, and revise laws setting standards for seed and "economic poisons" such as insecticides and defoliants.

Publisher Arranges For New Book Jacket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The book former Postmaster General J. Edward Day wrote is getting a new jacket.

When early copies of the book, "My Appointed Round: 929 Days as Postmaster General," appeared here, it was immediately noted that the dust jacket was decorated with color photographs of U.S. airmail stamps. The law forbids such color reproductions, and the maximum penalty for violation is 15 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

So Holt, Rinehart and Winston, the New York publisher, has ordered booksellers to destroy the dust jacket. They're ordering a new one. The publication date is July 8.

Mishap Kills Congressman

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Rep. T. Ashton Thompson, D-La., was struck and killed by a truck Thursday as he stood talking with a highway patrolman who had stopped him for allegedly speeding.

Thompson, 49, was taking his family home from Washington for the July 4th weekend. His wife and two children, the family maid and the patrolman escaped serious injury. The truck driver was hospitalized for possible back injuries.

Police said the congressman and Patrolman J.C. Goodwin were standing between their cars when the truck, driven by Norman Turner, 53, of Westville, N.J., apparently sideswiped the patrol car and slammed into the left rear of Thomson's 1965 Cadillac.

Thompson was thrown 18 feet and killed instantly. The truck continued for 264 feet down Interstate 85 before overturning. It was carrying egg crates and barrels of liquid soap.

Mrs. Thompson, 36, Christine Lea Thompson, 10, Ted Arthur Thompson, 7, and the maid, Evelina Poullard, 52, had remained in the car. They were flown to their Ville Platte, La., home today in the plane of Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen.

Democrat Backs Ike As Convention Critic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., says he agrees with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's criticism of the confusion at the last Republican presidential convention.

Monagan told the House that "the delegate is gradually becoming a mere incident to the phenomenon of the convention and losing all identity, while television cameramen and producers are creating issues, influencing the convention, and controlling its image in the national consciousness."

But Monagan was not trying to be partisan about it. He said, "I must admit that ours was more of a mess than the Republican one."

Youngstown U. Files Suit For Parking Site

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown University has filed a suit in Mahoning County Common Pleas Court to force operators of a parking lot to vacate the premises.

The university claims the parking lot, operated by Edward and Joseph Wall, is hampering the school's efforts to prepare the construction site for a student union. The university gave the men a two-month lease on the lot. The lease expired May 31.

Negro's Slaying Brings Police Probe In Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The fatal shooting of a Negro by an off-duty police officer resulted Thursday in charges against another officer and four Negroes and the suspension of both policemen.

Mayor J. D. Braman announced he would conduct an investigation to determine whether Seattle police are prejudiced against minorities. He promised steps to correct the situation if they are.

An all-white coroner's jury ruled Wednesday the shooting of Robert L. Reese, 41, by Patrolman Harold J. Larsen outside a Chinatown cafe June 20 was excusable homicide. The jury said Larsen, 34 and his companion, Franklin G. Junell, 28, had been drinking and used offensive language and that Reese and four other Negroes assaulted them.

Both officers are white.

Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll charged Junell with provoking an assault. The four surviving Negroes were charged with assault. Larsen was not charged.

Acting Police Chief C. A. Rouse called the two policemen "fine young officers" but said they were suspended for eight days and the suspension might be extended if investigation warrants.

Jack Tanner, northwest head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would file a civil suit seeking to make the city liable for actions of the off-duty policemen.

Tanner said he would also file a complaint with the U.S. attorney's office, alleging violation of Reese's civil rights, and a damage action under Washington's wrongful death law.

"It is not my concern whether these heighten civil rights tension in Seattle this summer," said Tanner. "After all, it was the act of a policeman killing a Negro which is the basis of it all."

Tanner, attending an NAACP convention in Denver, made his remarks in a telephone interview.

The Negroes charged are James A. Williams, 25; Le Roy Head, 24; Weldon Scipeo Boylan, 27, and Moore. They could be fined up to $1,000 and jailed for up to a year if convicted. Junell could be fined up to $250.

Johnson Policy Puzzles Leaders

EDITOR'S NOTE—The writer of this analysis has returned from a swing through Latin America, starting in the Dominican Republic and extending through South America.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnon has Latin-American political leaders in a state of stunned puzzlement, as if wondering whether the honeymoon of the Kennedy years is over. There is a new look, and it seems a tougher one.

Yet, despite a detectable touch of uneasiness among Latin-American leaders, the results may prove healthy. In fact, there is an excitement being churned up in Latin America about the future, as if in many cases a corner had been turned and the Americans were on the edge of something new and promising.

Even the U.S. military intervention in the Dominican Republic seems to have had a sobering effect. Washington seemed agreeably surprised at the lack of a chain of political explosions tied to the Dominican crisis. Yet, if the intervention had not happened, the qualitative changes in much of Latin America would have been less easy to detect.

The intervention, without the formality of inter-American approval in advance, was only one aspect of what appears to be a new direction for U.S. policy.

In effect, this policy would say to Latin-American leaders: "Pull up your socks and get to work. The United States can help with men and money, but what happens to your countries depends upon yourselves."

This has not been stated. It is an impression gained from unspoken attitudes among administration figures and Latin-American politicians and diplomats.

One hears from highly placed persons in Washington sentiments like this: "It's time for the Latin Americans to stop crying and stop blaming everything on the Yankees. They know what is wrong with them, and only they can change it."

Another impression gained among administration figures is that the United States has no intention of apologizing for actions it takes in its own national interests.

There is a hint of annoyance at the legalistic arguments of Latin-American governments which shy away from hemisphere political cooperation and which, in the words of one U.S. source, "refuse to face up to the fact that there is a hemisphere problem of Communist subversion."

Some governments oppose the special meeting of the Organization of American States scheduled next month in Rio de Janeiro. They seem fearful they will be asked to strengthen OAS machinery against subversion. The message they seem to be getting from the administration is that now is the time to face up to the problem, since they must do so in any event sooner or later.

Acting Police Chief C. A. Rouse called the two policemen "fine young officers" but said they were suspended for eight days and the suspension might be extended if investigation warrants.

Jack Tanner, northwest head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would file a civil suit seeking to make the city liable for actions of the off-duty policemen.

Tanner said he would also file a complaint with the U.S. attorney's office, alleging violation of Reese's civil rights, and a damage action under Washington's wrongful death law.

"It is not my concern whether these heighten civil rights tension in Seattle this summer," said Tanner. "After all, it was the act of a policeman killing a Negro which is the basis of it all."

Tanner, attending an NAACP convention in Denver, made his remarks in a telephone interview.

The Negroes charged are James A. Williams, 25; Le Roy Head, 24; Weldon Scipeo Boylan, 27, and Moore. They could be fined up to $1,000 and jailed for up to a year if convicted. Junell could be fined up to $250.

At 71st Convention

Wheatley Report To Cite 15 Points

President E. L. Wheatley will present a 15-point program for improvement of the ceramic industry and its workers as part of his report to the 71st annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters opening July 12 at Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

Wheatley released an advance text of his report today in The Potters Herald, the union's official newspaper.

HE SAID he will recommend to the convention's resolution committee as a legislative policy for 1965 and 1966:

1.—Wide circulation of information on the new union scholarship program for children of members to help assure that no potters' child is denied an education through failure to learn of the program.

2.—Repeal of Section 14(b)—the so - called "right-to-work" clause — in the Taft - Hartley Law.

3.—Amend the Fair Labor Standards Act to provide for a $2 minimum hourly wage, extension of coverage, a lowered work week and a hike in premium pay for overtime.

4.—Extension of coverage in the unemployment insurance system.

5.—Go on record in support of the Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" ruling on representation in state legislatures and help defeat "efforts to subvert proper reappointment. . ."

6.—Support a law for removal of lie detectors, hidden cameras, listening devices "and other infringements of employes' personal privacy by employers."

7.—Support the King - Anderson Medicare Bill to provide hospital benefits under Social Security.

8.—Back measures to improve housing for low- and middle - income families in the U.S. and Canada.

9.—Support efforts to assure equal voting opportunities for all Americans.

10.—Encourage any campaign to persuade the public to buy only ceramic products made in the U. S. and Canada.

11.—Call on the Defense Department to buy only American-made material, wherever possible, and urge it to abandon purchasing practices that hurt American workers and industry.

12.—Urge management in the ceramic industry to sponsor a scholarship program for children of employes, regardless of whether the workers are members of the IBOP.

13.—Ask the ceramic industry to initiate a public relations program to influence the purchase of American and Canadian ceramic products.

14.—Urge all employers who have contracts with the IBOP to place the union label on their ware.

15.—Work for improved education, including more schools, better vocational training, more financial support and increased availability of higher education.

WHEATLEY WILL point out that he has been a member of the IBOP since September 1915, when he became an apprentice kilnman, and that he has weathered 34 elections since 1933 while seeking international office.

He also will cite the fact that 1965 marks the 75th anniversary of the IBOP, which was established in 1890.

Wheatley also will reveal that the total union fund shortages allegedly traced to a former second vice president add up to $67,705.44 — all repaid to the IBOP by the bonding company, Fidelity and Deposit Co. of Maryland.

The reference is to William Rail of Huntington Park, Calif., who resigned a year ago as the second vice president. A few weeks ago, Wheatley will report, Rail was sentenced to two years in prison when he pleaded guilty to two counts of a 12-count embezzlement indictment in Federal District Court at Los Angeles.

Wheatley's report adds: "No other member of the IBOP was involved in all the thorough search, auditing and investigation that continued through approximately 13 months."

Wheatley also will cite gains made in the last year. His report says:

"At this writing, which is less than a year since my last presentation, I firmly believe our economic improvements through contract and grievance negotiations were as substantial, in many cases greater, than any gains attained in the ceramic industry by any of our competitors."

—:—

CONVENTION delegates and international officers are expected to leave for the Canadian city late next week.

The sessions, expected to last through July 16, will be held at the Bayshore Inn on Vancouver Bay. In its usual pre-convention session, the Executive Board will appoint committees and make other last-minute arrangements.

Wheatley will rap the gavel at 9 a. m. July 12 to call the first session to order. The opening session will be occupied primarily with official greetings to Vancouver officials and other ceremonies. Charles F. Jordan, secretary - treasurer, will announce committees.

Forty-seven resolutions will appear in the convention program and others will be introduced as the sessions open. After the first day's business, committees will meet each morning to discuss resolutions. In the afternoon sessions, resolutions will be brought onto the convention floor.

Principal guest speakers will include Dr. Herbert A. Levine, chairman of the union's new scholarship program; Jodoin Claude, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, and possibly Paul Hall, president of the Seafarers' International Union. George Meany, AFL-CIO president, also was invited, but advised that he could not arrange to attend.

Grandmas Slate Annual July 4th Horseback Jaunt

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. (AP) — Nine "gallopin' grandmas" prefer horses to horsepower in making their annual 28-mile freeway trip to the Fourth of July Yoncalla Rodeo in western Oregon.

The "elderly ladies" of the Cottage Grove Riding Club have made the trip by horseback for the last four years. The older gentlemen and the younger set of the club follow in motor vehicles.

Mrs. Roy Easley, 52, started the all-day excursion four years ago when she challenged Mrs. D. K. Mosby to make the trip on horseback. Two other ladies accompanied them.

"Some of us were kinda sore, but we made it," Mrs. Easley said. "We had so much fun and excitement we decided to do it again and eight or nine have made the trip every year since."

Mrs. Easley said the members of the "gallopin' grandmas" range in age from 25 to 55, but she admits not all are grandmothers.

The grandmas arrive at Yoncalla late in the afternoon and camp at the rodeo grounds with other members of the riding club.

Saturday the entire riding club will be in the Yoncalla Rodeo parade.

Tone Upper Arms . . . Rebuff The Sad Sag

This season, upper arms are over - exposed, unhappily for the overweight. Designers have snatched away the sleeves. Frankly, there is no more embarrassing spot for fat to cling than on the back - sides of the upper arm. After 40 birthdays, those particular muscles, the triceps, tend to sag sadly. It isn't age that's to blame. It is simply that everyday activity does not afford toning action.

Ida Jean Kain

THE TRICEPS, located on the back of the upper arm, is a large muscle. As the name implies, it is attached in three places at the top of the arms and into the shoulder muscles. Its action is to extend the forearms and to help extend the arm at the shoulder joint. Since loss of the triceps muscle would destroy a person's ability to extend the elbow forcibly, this is a clue to exercise action: forcible extension as in a punching movement. Shadow boxing, simply striking out, or punching at a firm pillow extended in a doorway, about shoulder level, would serve to tone the triceps.

Notice, this muscle is used to push rather than to lift. Our everyday activities do not bring the triceps into vigorous action. Naturally, tone is lost and gravity wins. When fat infiltrates, the inevitable result is a perceptible sag.

Is there any way to restore tone to the triceps and recapture firm, round arm contours? Certainly. There are several ways to keep these muscles toned, but they all involve arm action. Take your choice: swim, work with weights, or push against resistance.

Women who swim regularly have remarkably young looking arms, at any age. Swimming affords perfect arm exercise, for the movements are in the proper groove for reaching the little-used triceps. Moreover, the resistance offered by the water makes the action doubly effective.

—:—

EXERCISING with a weight held in each hand, a dumbbell or a book, forces the muscle to work harder. The weight adds resistance.

For effective isometric action, push against an immovable object and hold the muscle contraction to a slow count of six. While holding the contraction, breathe normally. Try this isometric exercise, using two chairs:

Sit in straight chair, such as a dining chair, forearms resting on top of second chairback. Press down — hard. Hold contraction for six seconds. Repeat three times, later five. Go through routine twice daily.

Work out your own arm - beautifying routine. If you hit upon a winner, write and share it with Eve's daughters, won't you?

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Isometric Exercises. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

ASC Sets Up Election Of Committees

LISBON — Election of Columbiana County agricultural stabilization and conservation community committees will be conducted by mail July 30-Aug. 9.

J. Glenn Bates of Salem, chairman of the county ASC committee, said the 18 townships have been grouped into 11 communities for the election. They follow:

Butler, Center - Hanover, Elk-run-Middleton, Fairfield, Franklin-Washington, Knox, Liverpool-St. Clair-Yellow Creek, Madison-Wayne, Perry - Salem, Unity and West.

Farmers in each of the communities will elect three committeemen and two alternates. The chairman, vice chairman and third regular member of each community committee will serve as delegates to the county convention this summer to select the county ASC committee.

The county and community committees administer the agricultural conservation program, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, wheat program, national wool feed grain program, voluntary program, farm storage facility loans and any other programs assigned by the Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Bates said farmers eligible to cast ballots will be those who are eligible to participate in one or more of the national farm programs which committeemen help to administer locally.

He said the farmer may be an owner, tenant or sharecropper. Persons not of legal voting age may vote in the election if they are in charge of farming operations on an entire farm.

Wadsworth Boy Killed

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—State highway patrolmen said Manes Manwell, 14, of Wadsworth was making a U-turn on his bicycle on Ohio 94 when he was hit by a car Thursday and injured fatally. The accident happened south of Wadsworth in Medina County.

Trash Truck Contracts Let

Acting on sealed bids opened June 11, the Board of Control awarded two contracts Thursday for purchase of a new packer type refuse collection truck for use of the incinerator department.

Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, comprising the board, said the two contracts total $8,299.

A contract for a 16-cubic - yard hydraulically - operated packer body went to Ohio Pak-Mor, Inc., of Chardon on its bid of $4,090.12. The base price of the unit was $3,775.12. In addition, the mayor and director specified two optional items—a magnetic trap and filter costing $90 and a hopper sweeper costing $225.

Wimmer Motor Sales, 734 Dresden Ave., received a $4,209 contract to supply a 1965 GMC truck chassis and cab.

Specifications require that the truck chassis will be delivered at Chardon, where the packer body will be installed by Pak-Mor.

In an appropriation measure enacted in April, Council provided $9,000 for the purchase of the complete unit. The purchase price is $701 under the total amount available.

Cleveland Plans Huge Project In Downtown

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 20-year $1 billion revitalization plan for downtown Cleveland is "not impossible" but calls for unified downtown leadership, the Cleveland Development Foundation has been told.

The 18-month, $150,000 study plan was revealed Thursday at the 11th annual meeting of the foundation. Francis A. Coy, president of May Co. and chairman of the Greater Cleveland Growth Board, will direct the program outlined in the study.

The study cited drop of 9,000 employes in the downtown area from 1958 to 1964. Sales fell off $52 million, and 148 retail firms left the area between 1958 and 1963. The downtown tax base in 1958 was $49 million higher than it is today, the study showed.

Rights Group Forced From Church Site

CAMDEN, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights workers have moved into what one of them called "emergency headquarters" at Camden Academy, a Negro school, following the locking of a Negro church which had served them as a headquarters for several months.

Wilcox County Sheriff P.C. Jenkins locked the doors to the Antioch Baptist Church Thursday, claiming that there had been "too much disturbance" there recently.

He also claimed that the deacons of the church, at a meeting in his office earlier in the week, had expressed a desire to have the workers evicted.

However, Nathaniel Hill, chairman of the board of deacons, said that he and his fellow board members had told the sheriff they did not have the authority to make the decision as to whether the civil rights workers were to stay or go. He said they told the sheriff the matter would need a vote of the entire congregation.

GOP Leader Backs U.S. Viet Nam Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Gerald Ford says his party "will be guided by the national interest" in its stand on Viet Nam.

"Republicans will continue to disregard partisan considerations in foreign policy," he said, contending that "some Democrats would abandon the free people of Viet Nam.

"The President must not yield to them," Ford said at a news conference.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My question may not be the type you care to answer in the paper. If you do reply in print, please don't pull any punches. Tell me if you think I'm a snob, or if I'm justified in feeling that somebody is out of line.

I'm a college student. When I returned from school last month the maid greeted me at the front door with a great big, "Welcome home." She gave me the "Welcome home" bit when I returned from school for Christmas vacation, too. It bothered me both times.

I somehow feel it is not the maid's place to welcome me home. Shouldn't she just say, "Hello, nice to see you back"—or something equally impersonal? — MISS UN-E.Z.

-:-

Dear Un: Maybe you'd prefer, "Welcome home, Your Royal Highness?"

A person whose nose is as out of joint as yours should be pleased that anyone speaks to her at all.

Feel flattered that the maid would welcome you so warmly. It's a compliment — perhaps undeserved.

Proper Question

Dear Ann: My letter probably never will get in the paper because I'm not an 11-year-old unwed mother or a 70-year-old woman trying to find happiness with a man half her age.

What I want to know is this: Is it proper for a son and a daughter to split the cost of a wedding ring for their mother? Our parents were married during the depression and Pa couldn't afford anything but a simple band. (I think it is aluminum.) Over the years the band has worn thin and is now too small for her finger.

I know Ma would love a wedding band with a few diamonds in it but Pa can't get it for her. My brother and I could buy Ma a nice wedding ring but we don't know if it would be proper. How about it? — BIG QUANDARY.

-:-

Dear Big Q.: It isn't proper for children to buy their mother a wedding ring. I suggest two alternatives: (1) Buy your mother a dinner ring. (She'd probably be thrilled) (2) Give Pa the money to buy Ma a new wedding ring and let the gift be from him.

Frustrated Frats

Dear Ann: What can a fellow do when he finds out his sister is a tramp and that their mother knows all about it but refused to say anything for fear the girl will move out of the house?

Ellie fell for this jerk at the Naval base. For a year he slept at our house weekends, drank Dad's beer, used Ellie's car and never spent a dime on her. She even bought her own engagement ring. When his time was up he left town and said he'd send for her. That was the last she heard of him.

Now Ellie is mixed up with another bum who is using her the same way. In fact, this second bum is a buddy of the first bum. I'm sure Bum No. 1 tipped off Bum No. 2 that Ellie is a real friendly girl with round heels and a soft head.

My mother says to keep my nose out of it because now she at least knows where Ellie is. And where is she? She's home — night after night, carrying on like a cheap trollop right under the family's nose. What can I do? — DISGUSTED BROTHER.

Dear Brother: Probably nothing. But make one last effort to talk some sense into your sister's soft head. Tell her what it looks like from the male point of view. And let's hope she listens.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Kennedys Ready For River Jaunt On Utah Border

ELK SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Don Hatch, the veteran river runner who leads the Sen. Robert F. Kennedy party down the Yampa and Green Rivers along the Utah-Colorado border today, says he isn't worried about the river rapids.

The Kennedy family, including wife Ethel and five of the couple's nine children, flew to Vernal, Utah, Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. James Whittaker and their two sons.

Whittaker was with Kennedy when he became the first person to ascend Mt. Kennedy in Canada. Whittaker, of Seattle, Wash., was the first American to climb Mt. Everest.

Hatch, 37, is a school teacher who has been running the rivers since childhood. He will command the three 27-foot rubber rafts the party will use in the 83-mile journey.

The trip will take them through the wild canyon lands of the border country. The Yampa joins the Green River at Echo Park, where the party plans to spend its first night.

Hatch said there were about eight spots in the rivers known as rapids. But he said they were not considered dangerous.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average five to seven degrees below normal. Representative daily normal high and low temperatures are Cincinnati 87-66, Columbus 86-63, Cleveland 82-60. Cooler over the weekend then warming towards midweek. Scattered showers Saturday and again near middle of next week expected to total one quarter to one half inch.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: To remove nail polish, without mess, fill the cap from your nail polish remover bottle half full and dip each finger in it for a second or two, and then wipe with cotton. The number of coats of polish will determine how many dunkings are necessary.

The remover in the cap stays clear, and can be poured back into the bottle when through!

You'll find this ends numerous smeary cotton balls, plus all that old polish from getting on one or both hands.

My day begins with your column. Long live Heloise!

ADELIE G. BUETOW.

-:-

Adeline, you hit the nail on the head! It works beautifully — and now I have polish-less nails to prove it! And, just as you said, I poured the capful of remover back into the bottle, and it didn't discolor the rest of the remover.

Long may you live, too.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Please tell all the gals to stop folding sheets and start rolling them up!

This also applies to tablecloths so there will be no creases. I have even started rolling my towels, as they look so much prettier this way, and it saves so much space.

DALLY.

DEAR HELOISE: When I want to soften butter quickly for spreading, I fill a bowl with boiling water, then pour out the water, and turn the hot bowl upside down over the butter dish.

The butter will soften without melting, and is great for corn-on-the-cob, buttering French bread, etc.

Try it!

BARBARA OSBORNE.

DEAR HELOISE: To bathe baby (who is slippery when wet and soapy), sew a fingertip towel in tube fashion to fit around your arm, and rest baby's head on your arm safely.

MARY JANE

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: A small pencil eraser, placed on the end of your corsage pin, will keep the pin from sticking you when wearing the corsage, and will also keep it firmly in place.

M.E.D.

DEAR HELOISE: I used nylon net to spot-wash the arms of my washable, cotton slipcovers. Then I had the bright idea of putting a whole yard of nylon net into the washing machine with the slip-covers.

The covers have a white background, and they came out like new . . . they just sparkled.

Try this. It's wonderful.

PAULINE HIGGINS.

-:-

Oh, Pauline, you are so right! The nylon net will act as a gentle abrasive to clean the most soiled sections of the cotton slipcovers, without harming the fabric or fading it as a bleach might do.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: A barber's apron, made from an old sheet, makes hair cuts pleasanter for my three small sons.

The aprons can be decorated in various ways, which helps entertain the children while cutting their hair.

MOTHER OF MANY (FIVE).

—:—

DEAR HELOISE: There are so many, many uses for those empty plastic bottles. . . I cut some way down and use as "trays" for small bottles of medicine in the medicine cabinet.

MRS. P. KREGER.

Congressional Compromise

Accord Reached On Bill To Warn Tobacco Users

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional compromise was reached Thursday on legislation to require warnings against cigarette smoking.

Under it all cigarette packages and cartons must carry this label in a conspicuous position: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous To Your Health."

The compromise bars the Federal Trade Commission from requiring any warning in advertising earlier than July 1, 1969. Congress may take another look at the matter before that date.

A Senate - House committee worked out the compromise from differing bills passed by the two branches of Congress. The committee's decisions are subject to ratification by the Senate and House.

The principal differences were as to advertising and as to the position of the warning on cigarette packages.

The Senate bill would have blocked any requirement for a warning in advertising before 1968. The House bill would have blocked it permanently.

The Senate bill would have required that the warning label on packages and cartons of cigarettes be on the front. The House ordered it on the side.

The compromise says only that the warning must be in a conspicuous place.

The Senate bill proposed a $100,000 fine for violation of the measure. The House bill carried a $10,000 penalty which was included in the compromise.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My question may not be the type you care to answer in the paper. If you do reply in print, please don't pull any punches. Tell me if you think I'm a snob, or if I'm justified in feeling that somebody is out of line.

I'm a college student. When I returned from school last month the maid greeted me at the front door with a great big, "Welcome home." She gave me the "Welcome home" bit when I returned from school for Christmas vacation, too. It bothered me both times.

I somehow feel it is not the maid's place to welcome me home. Shouldn't she just say, "Hello, nice to see you back"—or something equally impersonal? — MISS UN-E.Z.

-:-

Dear Un: Maybe you'd prefer, "Welcome home, Your Royal Highness?"

A person whose nose is as out of joint as yours should be pleased that anyone speaks to her at all.

Feel flattered that the maid would welcome you so warmly. It's a compliment — perhaps undeserved.

Proper Question

Dear Ann: My letter probably never will get in the paper because I'm not an 11-year-old unwed mother or a 70-year-old woman trying to find happiness with a man half her age.

What I want to know is this: Is it proper for a son and a daughter to split the cost of a wedding ring for their mother? Our parents were married during the depression and Pa couldn't afford anything but a simple band. (I think it is aluminum.) Over the years the band has worn thin and is now too small for her finger.

I know Ma would love a wedding band with a few diamonds in it but Pa can't get it for her. My brother and I could buy Ma a nice wedding ring but we don't know if it would be proper. How about it? — BIG QUANDARY.

-:-

Dear Big Q.: It isn't proper for children to buy their mother a wedding ring. I suggest two alternatives: (1) Buy your mother a dinner ring. (She'd probably be thrilled) (2) Give Pa the money to buy Ma a new wedding ring and let the gift be from him.

Frustrated Frats

Dear Ann: What can a fellow do when he finds out his sister is a tramp and that their mother knows all about it but refused to say anything for fear the girl will move out of the house?

Ellie fell for this jerk at the Naval base. For a year he slept at our house weekends, drank Dad's beer, used Ellie's car and never spent a dime on her. She even bought her own engagement ring. When his time was up he left town and said he'd send for her. That was the last she heard of him.

Now Ellie is mixed up with another bum who is using her the same way. In fact, this second bum is a buddy of the first bum. I'm sure Bum No. 1 tipped off Bum No. 2 that Ellie is a real friendly girl with round heels and a soft head.

My mother says to keep my nose out of it because now she at least knows where Ellie is. And where is she? She's home — night after night, carrying on like a cheap trollop right under the family's nose. What can I do? — DISGUSTED BROTHER.

Dear Brother: Probably nothing. But make one last effort to talk some sense into your sister's soft head. Tell her what it looks like from the male point of view. And let's hope she listens.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Kennedys Ready For River Jaunt On Utah Border

ELK SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Don Hatch, the veteran river runner who leads the Sen. Robert F. Kennedy party down the Yampa and Green Rivers along the Utah-Colorado border today, says he isn't worried about the river rapids.

The Kennedy family, including wife Ethel and five of the couple's nine children, flew to Vernal, Utah, Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. James Whittaker and their two sons.

Whittaker was with Kennedy when he became the first person to ascend Mt. Kennedy in Canada. Whittaker, of Seattle, Wash., was the first American to climb Mt. Everest.

Hatch, 37, is a school teacher who has been running the rivers since childhood. He will command the three 27-foot rubber rafts the party will use in the 83-mile journey.

The trip will take them through the wild canyon lands of the border country. The Yampa joins the Green River at Echo Park, where the party plans to spend its first night.

Hatch said there were about eight spots in the rivers known as rapids. But he said they were not considered dangerous.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average five to seven degrees below normal. Representative daily normal high and low temperatures are Cincinnati 87-66, Columbus 86-63, Cleveland 82-60. Cooler over the weekend then warming towards midweek. Scattered showers Saturday and again near middle of next week expected to total one quarter to one half inch.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: To remove nail polish, without mess, fill the cap from your nail polish remover bottle half full and dip each finger in it for a second or two, and then wipe with cotton. The number of coats of polish will determine how many dunkings are necessary.

The remover in the cap stays clear, and can be poured back into the bottle when through!

You'll find this ends numerous smeary cotton balls, plus all that old polish from getting on one or both hands.

My day begins with your column. Long live Heloise!

ADELIE G. BUETOW.

-:-

Adeline, you hit the nail on the head! It works beautifully — and now I have polish-less nails to prove it! And, just as you said, I poured the capful of remover back into the bottle, and it didn't discolor the rest of the remover.

Long may you live, too.

Judge Gives Man 1 To 7 Years In April Theft Case

LISBON — Allen S. Moore, 39, of Youngstown is in Columbiana County jail awaiting transfer to the Ohio Penitentiary to serve 1 to 7 years for grand larceny.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court sentenced him after rejecting his motion for investigation for probation. The judge recalled that Moore testified during his trial June 21-22 he had been convicted of four felonies.

A jury found Moore guilty of a charge of taking $600 worth of strip-mine machine parts April 17 from John L. Lipp's coal yard near East Palestine. The jury, however, set the value of the parts at $95.

Moore claimed a man in a "baseball cap and green jacket and trousers" gave him permission to take the parts from a field and that he intended to sell them for scrap.

Lipp arrived when Moore and his helper had the iron loaded on a truck, made them put back the material and called police.

New Date Set For East End Driver's Case

Granting a defense motion for a continuance, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Friday, July 9, at 9 a.m. for William Howard Copestick, 27, of 871 Valley Ave., East End, cited early Wednesday on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Atty. Bernard Fineman, representing Copestick, advised the court this morning he had been retained in the case only recently and requested time to consult with his client to prepare a defense. No plea was entered. The court set the new date for the hearing and continued Copestick's appearance bond.

Copestick was arrested Wednesday at 2:24 a.m. at 5th and Market Sts. by Patrolman J.W. Buckley, officers said.

Two out-of-town motorists cited Thursday night and early today forfeited $17.50 appearance bonds. They are Charles E. Lang, 44, of Akron, arrested at 12:02 this morning on a charge he crashed a traffic signal at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts., and Chester S. Storc, 48, of Youngstown, cited last night at 10:15 on a charge he ignored a stop sign at W. 4th and Monroe Sts.

Two others were fined $15 and costs on charges filed as the aftermath of traffic mishaps.

Mrs. Grace O. Ohnezeit, 1248 Pennsylvania Ave., pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge. She was cited after her auto went out of control and struck a utility pole on W. 3rd St. at 4 a.m. June 20. Mrs. Ohnezeit had been hospitalized with injuries suffered in the mishap.

Harry H. Woolmaker, 25, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol June 23 at 2:15 p.m. after his car allegedly hit a stopped vehicle from the rear on Route 30 at Substation.

James Tridico Will Direct Red Cross Swim Program

James Tridico of Chester will replace Don Ross as director of the Red Cross summer swimming program, Mrs. Maudine Schiff, chairman of the East Liverpool Chapter's Water Safety Committee, announced today.

Ross recently was appointed head coach at Beaver Local High School. Mrs. Schiff said that Tridico completed his Red Cross water safety instructor training at West Liberty State College and is an authorized instructor for the chapter.

Mrs. Schiff also reminded that the second session of the Red Cross program will start at Thompson Park Pool on Monday, July 12. Registrations cards for this three - week course are still available at the office in Mary Patterson Building. All applications must be completed and returned by July 8.

Classes will be at the same time as in the first session, which will end July 9. Intermediate swimmer lessons, for those who are strong swimmers and want to learn the different swimming strokes, will be from 8:45 a.m. to 9:30, when the junior life-saving course will also be given. From 9:30 to 10:20, courses will be for beginners who are from 10 to 16 years of age; for adults, and for those taking senior life-saving. The final session from 10:30 to 11:15 is for beginners 6 through 9.

Mrs. Schiff also stressed the need for all taking vacations on water during this coming holiday weekend to practice safety.

U.S. Housewives Find Food Costs Still Higher Than 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife has found some relief from the high prices she paid for fresh vegetables in May, but she still is paying a lot more in this category than a year ago.

By the same token, there has been some letup in a controversy between grower groups and government officials over the rise in vegetable prices this spring. But they still disagree as to the causes.

An Agriculture Department report shows that prices paid growers for fresh vegetables in mid-June were down about 8 per cent from mid-May. Nevertheless they still are 21 per cent higher than a year earlier. No figures were available on the increases in retail prices over a year ago.

Spokesmen for vegetable growers claim the price advance this spring was caused by a reduction in marketable supplies. They said their inability to get an adequate supply of skilled farm workers to cultivate and harvest the crops forced prices up.

But both the Agriculture and Labor Departments have claimed this to be untrue. They have said there have been and still are plenty of workers among the unemployed. The Labor Department has conducted recruitment programs. The Agriculture Department has said the production of fresh vegetables this spring was down only 2 per cent from a year earlier.

Yet grower leaders say it is unlikely such a small decline in production would have raised prices to a level 41 per cent above those of a year earlier, which was the peak figure in mid-May.

Growers say that they are benefitting little from the higher prices because of a reduced volume of marketings and higher labor costs. A critical time could come in September and October, a time of harvest for vegetables and processing and also a time when many high school students now being hired for farm labor will be back at their studies.

Hills Will Build At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN—A new Hills department store of more than 90,000 square feet will be constructed soon on Youngstown's north side in Liberty Township.

Herbert H. Schiff, president of the Shoe Corp. of America, who made the announcement, said it will be the largest department store all on one floor in northeastern Ohio.

The new store will be one of 16 which constitute the Eastern Department Stores Division of the shoe corporation.

Other Ohio Hills stores are located in Youngstown, Boardman, Ashtabula, Warren, Lorain, Sandusky and another will open soon in East Liverpool. In Pennsylvania, Hills stores are located in New Castle, York and another store will be opened in Uniontown this fall. Clarksburg, W. Va. will be the site of a Hills store early in 1966.

East Germans Refuse To Sign River Permits

BONN, Germany (AP)—Two Communist East German barges were held up today at Schnackenburg of the Elbe River because their captains refused to sign the usual permits for entering West German waters, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's spokesman reported.

Press chief Karl Guenther Von Hase told a news conference that the Communist government "is obviously making a test" of conditions under which barge traffic can move between the two Germanys.

30 Hurt In Berlin

Judge Gives Man 1 To 7 Years In April Theft Case

LISBON — Allen S. Moore, 39, of Youngstown is in Columbiana County jail awaiting transfer to the Ohio Penitentiary to serve 1 to 7 years for grand larceny.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court sentenced him after rejecting his motion for investigation for probation. The judge recalled that Moore testified during his trial June 21-22 he had been convicted of four felonies.

A jury found Moore guilty of a charge of taking $600 worth of strip-mine machine parts April 17 from John L. Lipp's coal yard near East Palestine. The jury, however, set the value of the parts at $95.

Moore claimed a man in a "baseball cap and green jacket and trousers" gave him permission to take the parts from a field and that he intended to sell them for scrap.

Lipp arrived when Moore and his helper had the iron loaded on a truck, made them put back the material and called police.

New Date Set For East End Driver's Case

Granting a defense motion for a continuance, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Friday, July 9, at 9 a.m. for William Howard Copestick, 27, of 871 Valley Ave., East End, cited early Wednesday on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Atty. Bernard Fineman, representing Copestick, advised the court this morning he had been retained in the case only recently and requested time to consult with his client to prepare a defense. No plea was entered. The court set the new date for the hearing and continued Copestick's appearance bond.

Copestick was arrested Wednesday at 2:24 a.m. at 5th and Market Sts. by Patrolman J.W. Buckley, officers said.

Two out-of-town motorists cited Thursday night and early today forfeited $17.50 appearance bonds. They are Charles E. Lang, 44, of Akron, arrested at 12:02 this morning on a charge he crashed a traffic signal at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts., and Chester S. Storc, 48, of Youngstown, cited last night at 10:15 on a charge he ignored a stop sign at W. 4th and Monroe Sts.

Two others were fined $15 and costs on charges filed as the aftermath of traffic mishaps.

Mrs. Grace O. Ohnezeit, 1248 Pennsylvania Ave., pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge. She was cited after her auto went out of control and struck a utility pole on W. 3rd St. at 4 a.m. June 20. Mrs. Ohnezeit had been hospitalized with injuries suffered in the mishap.

Harry H. Woolmaker, 25, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol June 23 at 2:15 p.m. after his car allegedly hit a stopped vehicle from the rear on Route 30 at Substation.

Here's the route for the combined pickup Tuesday: Ohio Ave., St. George St., Railroad St., Kent St., Mulberry St., 1st Ave., Virginia Ave., Mapletree St., Elmtree St., Pennsylvania Ave., Boyce St., Monaca St., Harker Ave., Erie St.

Globe St., Etruria St., Cleveland Ave., Palissey St., Wedgewood St., Holliday St., Park Ave., Alpha St., Oakland Ave., Price St., Valley Ave., Elizabeth St., Putnam St., Harvey Ave., Ohio Ave., Michigan Ave. and Little England.

Mrs. Ethel Peterson of Glendale, Calif., a former resident of East Liverpool, sang and was her own accompanist for two numbers, "Michael Roll the Boat Ashore" and "Let There Be Peace on Earth."

The annual picnic will be held July 14 at the DAV summer home in West Point. Plans also were discussed for the trip to the Packard Playhouse in Warren July 31. Two buses will provide transportation. Mrs. Daisy McCain is chairman of arrangements. The members will attend the Lisbon Fair Aug. 27 and also plan to go to the Canfield Fair.

A standing ovation was given Mrs. Eunice Hogenfeld for her efforts in making the recent rummage sale a success.

The next meeting will be Thursday.

James Tridico Will Direct Red Cross Swim Program

James Tridico of Chester will replace Don Ross as director of the Red Cross summer swimming program, Mrs. Maudine Schiff, chairman of the East Liverpool Chapter's Water Safety Committee, announced today.

Ross recently was appointed head coach at Beaver Local High School. Mrs. Schiff said that Tridico completed his Red Cross water safety instructor training at West Liberty State College and is an authorized instructor for the chapter.

Mrs. Schiff also reminded that the second session of the Red Cross program will start at Thompson Park Pool on Monday, July 12. Registrations cards for this three - week course are still available at the office in Mary Patterson Building. All applications must be completed and returned by July 8.

Classes will be at the same time as in the first session, which will end July 9. Intermediate swimmer lessons, for those who are strong swimmers and want to learn the different swimming strokes, will be from 8:45 a.m. to 9:30, when the junior life-saving course will also be given. From 9:30 to 10:20, courses will be for beginners who are from 10 to 16 years of age; for adults, and for those taking senior life-saving. The final session from 10:30 to 11:15 is for beginners 6 through 9.

Mrs. Schiff also stressed the need for all taking vacations on water during this coming holiday weekend to practice safety.

U.S. Housewives Find Food Costs Still Higher Than 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife has found some relief from the high prices she paid for fresh vegetables in May, but she still is paying a lot more in this category than a year ago.

By the same token, there has been some letup in a controversy between grower groups and government officials over the rise in vegetable prices this spring. But they still disagree as to the causes.

An Agriculture Department report shows that prices paid growers for fresh vegetables in mid-June were down about 8 per cent from mid-May. Nevertheless they still are 21 per cent higher than a year earlier. No figures were available on the increases in retail prices over a year ago.

Spokesmen for vegetable growers claim the price advance this spring was caused by a reduction in marketable supplies. They said their inability to get an adequate supply of skilled farm workers to cultivate and harvest the crops forced prices up.

But both the Agriculture and Labor Departments have claimed this to be untrue. They have said there have been and still are plenty of workers among the unemployed. The Labor Department has conducted recruitment programs. The Agriculture Department has said the production of fresh vegetables this spring was down only 2 per cent from a year earlier.

Yet grower leaders say it is unlikely such a small decline in production would have raised prices to a level 41 per cent above those of a year earlier, which was the peak figure in mid-May.

Growers say that they are benefitting little from the higher prices because of a reduced volume of marketings and higher labor costs. A critical time could come in September and October, a time of harvest for vegetables and processing and also a time when many high school students now being hired for farm labor will be back at their studies.

Hills Will Build At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN—A new Hills department store of more than 90,000 square feet will be constructed soon on Youngstown's north side in Liberty Township.

Herbert H. Schiff, president of the Shoe Corp. of America, who made the announcement, said it will be the largest department store all on one floor in northeastern Ohio.

The new store will be one of 16 which constitute the Eastern Department Stores Division of the shoe corporation.

Other Ohio Hills stores are located in Youngstown, Boardman, Ashtabula, Warren, Lorain, Sandusky and another will open soon in East Liverpool. In Pennsylvania, Hills stores are located in New Castle, York and another store will be opened in Uniontown this fall. Clarksburg, W. Va. will be the site of a Hills store early in 1966.

East Germans Refuse To Sign River Permits

BONN, Germany (AP)—Two Communist East German barges were held up today at Schnackenburg of the Elbe River because their captains refused to sign the usual permits for entering West German waters, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's spokesman reported.

Press chief Karl Guenther Von Hase told a news conference that the Communist government "is obviously making a test" of conditions under which barge traffic can move between the two Germanys.

A few friends were invited to join the festivities, described as "nothing elaborate."

A concentration of twister damage in southeastern Nebraska and injury of one woman at Nebraska City on the Iowa border occurred Thursday night. Highway 2, east of Lincoln and about 30 miles south of Omaha, was closed by runoff from a torrential rain in the Dunbar area.

High wind and heavy hail hit North Platte and Omaha.

Police Slay Man At Norfolk Over House Eviction

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A man who fought eviction with a 45-caliber automatic was shot to death, ending a 20-minute gun battle with police.

Fred Williams, a one-legged man with a lengthy police record, wounded a policeman, a real estate agent and a boy before detectives' submachineguns cut him down Thursday.

Police said Williams was three months behind on his rent and had been told he was to be evicted. When J.C Councill, a real estate agent, arrived with two policemen and an assistant city constable, Williams started shooting.

The first flurry of shots hit Councill in the leg and critically wounded Patrolman J.R. Williams.

Flu Expected To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Public Health Service advisory committee predicted today there probably will be an increased number of influenza cases in the coming winter season.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry announced the committee's recommendation for vaccination of persons in groups which experience high mortality from epidemic influenza.

The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices noted that influenza incidence in the United States during 1964-65 was relatively limited. The last major epidemic of Type A influenza occurred in 1962-63 in most of the country and in 1963-64 on the West Coast.

Since the outbreaks come in two to three year cycles, "the committee anticipates that somewhat increased amounts of influenza may be expected in the coming season," the health service said.

The committee urged that persons in the following groups be vaccinated against influenza: Those suffering from chronic debilitating diseases, older persons, pregnant women and patients in nursing homes and other environments in which crowded living arrangements may lead to a more rapid spread of the disease.

Polo is played on the largest field of any ball game in the world.

Police Slay Man At Norfolk Over House Eviction

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A man who fought eviction with a 45-caliber automatic was shot to death, ending a 20-minute gun battle with police.

Fred Williams, a one-legged man with a lengthy police record, wounded a policeman, a real estate agent and a boy before detectives' submachineguns cut him down Thursday.

Police said Williams was three months behind on his rent and had been told he was to be evicted. When J.C Councill, a real estate agent, arrived with two policemen and an assistant city constable, Williams started shooting.

The first flurry of shots hit Councill in the leg and critically wounded Patrolman J.R. Williams.

Flu Expected To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Public Health Service advisory committee predicted today there probably will be an increased number of influenza cases in the coming winter season.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry announced the committee's recommendation for vaccination of persons in groups which experience high mortality from epidemic influenza.

The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices noted that influenza incidence in the United States during 1964-65 was relatively limited. The last major epidemic of Type A influenza occurred in 1962-63 in most of the country and in 1963-64 on the West Coast.

Since the outbreaks come in two to three year cycles, "the committee anticipates that somewhat increased amounts of influenza may be expected in the coming season," the health service said.

The committee urged that persons in the following groups be vaccinated against influenza: Those suffering from chronic debilitating diseases, older persons, pregnant women and patients in nursing homes and other environments in which crowded living arrangements may lead to a more rapid spread of the disease.

Most people know Norm Vanlier as the fine playmaker of the Midland basketball squad, but few are aware of his abilities on the baseball diamond.

Vanlier, who was busy on the basketball court and football field while starring at Midland, hasn't had much time to devote to baseball but he has shown enough ability with the bat and ball this summer to be noticed by Major League scouts.

Vanlier is hitting well over .300 for the Midland Legion team and has drawn the attention of Houston, St. Louis and Pittsburgh scouts.

In fact, he is due for a tryout at Pittsburgh later this month and is scheduled to work out at St. Louis at the end of this month. He is an outfielder, but can play several positions in the infield if the occasion arises.

Baseball is one reason Vanlier changed his decision on where he would attend college. He was schedulued to attend the University of Cincinnati, but now has accepted an athletic grant to Wichita University with his teammate Sim Hill.

Norm feels Wichita offers him more of an opportunity to play baseball.

Bucs High Among Leaders . . .

WHILE ON the subject of baseball, the recent surge of the Pittsburgh Pirates didn't happen by accident.

A glance at the National League leaders reveals several Pirates are high in the running for honors.

Among the top 10 batters at this writing are Donn Clendenon at .319 and Roberto Clemente at .322, while Willie Stargell is second in home runs with 20, trailing only Willie Mays.

Stargell also is tied for second in the RBI department with 57.

When it comes to pitching, Vernon Law, who had his eight-game win streak snapped Wednesday, sports the top earned run average in the majors at 1.51. He gave up only one earned run in the loss to St. Louis Wednesday.

Don Cardwell, a pleasant surprise to Manager Harry Walker, also rates among the leading pitchers with a 6-2 record.

Stanton Star To Mt. Union . . .

JIM PILUTTI, Stanton Local's All-Eastern Ohio fullback, is planning to attend Mt. Union College this fall.

Freshmen are eligible for varsity play in the Ohio Athletic Conference and Pilutti will be battling a sophomore and a senior for the starting fullback spot.

The 180-pounder also was a member of the Red Raiders track team and was an outstanding student at Stanton Local.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Pilutti of Irondale.

Jim Musuraca fanned 16 batters as Burbick's went on to post a 7-3 victory over Sevy's and Litten's posted an 8-6 win over Woodbine Thursday in the Pony League.

Burbick's settled the issue early with three runs in the first inning. Musuraca and teammates Lacy, Haney and Berhar had two hits each for the winners while Lockhart and Cunningham slammed a pair of hits for Sevy's. Musuraca was touched for six hits.

Woodbine outhit Litten's 15-9 but finished on the losing end.

Leading 3-0, Woodbine saw Litten's bunch its hits to score four times in the fifth and four more in the sixth inning to post the victory. Woodbine attempted to catch up in the final frame by scoring three runs but fell short.

Bob Flint was the winning pitcher with Bernard Lovejoy the loser.

Hancock and Parson had two hits each for Litten's while Barrett enjoyed a perfect four-for-four night in a losing cause for Woodbine. Clark came up with three hits for the Laundrymen.

Bucs Blow Lead To Cards

Dodgers Bow To Cubs, 6-3; Phils Climb

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hal Smith has caught the 567th game of his major league career and he still has only one line in the record books:

"Led National League in passed balls, 17, 1957."

Forced to quit baseball because of a heart condition, Smith was pressed into service by the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday for the first time in more than four years and caught eight innings in the Pirates' 7-6 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals.

For the first seven innings Smith, who was yanked off the coaching lines because of injuries to the entire Pirate catching corps of Del Crandall, Jim Pagliaroni and Ossie Virgil, played little more than a game of catch as Bob Veale checked the Cardinals on three hits.

But now it was 10:26 and Smith's rusty 34-year-old legs were going to get a quick refresher course as the Cardinals put together a four-run rally that tied the score.

After Bill White led off the eighth with a single, Smith began darting around the plate as Veale hit a wild streak and walked Phil Gagliano and Dick Groat. There was a brief respite as Mike Shannon and Curt Flood went out, but then it started all over again.

Ken Boyer was hit by a pitch, filling the bases before the count went to 3 and 2 on Carl Warwick. Smith squatted and then started running toward the backstop as Veale uncorked a fourth ball wild pitch, and Gagliano and Groat raced across the plate.

Smith put the mask back on, and had just sat down on his haunches when Bob Uecker was hit by a pitch. But at last Manager Harry Walker called for a new pitcher and Don Schwall came on. Smith warmed him up, then darted around as Schwall walked Bob Skinner.

Smith was getting a little tired, but so was Walker and he immediately pulled Schwall and tried Frank Carpin. Smith warmed him up, then squatted.

Tim McCarver was the batter, 10:55 was the time and strike three was the call.

And Smith trudged to the dugout.

The 1-2 teams in the National League also trudged back to the dugout, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers after a 6-3 loss to the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati following a 5-1 loss to the New York Mets. In the only other game scheduled, Philadelphia moved into fourth place with a 2-1 victory over Milwaukee.

Glenn Beckert, who had hit only one previous homer for the Cubs, supplied the fireworks against the Dodgers. He put Chicago ahead 1-0 with a homer in the fourth inning off Johnny Podres and hit a three-run shot in the seventh that wrapped it up. Reliever Lindy McDaniel got the victory.

Ed Kranepool hit a two-run homer and Ron Swoboda slammed a two-run triple in support of Al Jackson's seven-hit pitching as the Mets defeated the Reds. Jim Maloney, who pitched 10 no-hit innings and lost to New York earlier in the season, gave up six hits this time in six innings and now is 8-4. Jackson is 4-10.

Ray Culp, 5-4, checked the Braves on three hits and scored the winning run in the eighth inning when he singled and came around on a bunt, a grounder and Johnny Callison's single. The loser was Ken Johnson, now 6-4, who allowed just six hits.

Basketball is conceded to be the one major sport that is exclusively all -American in origin.

Ex-Yankee Bonus Baby Swings Big Bat For Orioles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees are putting Curt Blefary through college and Blefary's putting the Yankees through a wringer.

Blefary, signed by the Yankees as a hot outfield prospect in 1962 but lost to Baltimore on waivers a year later, continued to haunt his former employers Thursday night, belting a home run and triple in the Orioles' 4-3 victory over New York.

The 21-year-old rookie, a native of Brooklyn, has clubbed five homers, driven in 11 runs and compiled a .375 average in nine games against New York this season. What's more, when he finishes with Yankee pitching he'll hit Yankee management for the unpaid bill on his college education.

The Yankees gave Curt a $20,000 bonus when they signed him off New York's Wagner College campus and agreed to pick up the tab when he returned to school. He has a year to go but will attend classes only during the off-season. So, the Yankees will be paying the bill for another two years.

The Orioles' victory kept them 3½ games behind first-place Cleveland one-half game in front of fifth-place Detroit. The Indians trimmed Washington 7-2 and the Tigers nipped Boston 2-1 in the only other AL action.

Leon Wagner's two-run homer, two doubles by Chuck Hinton and three singles by Max Alvis backed the five-hit pitching of Sonny Siebert as the Indians increased their league lead to a full game over idle Minnesota.

Siebert struck out 11 while boosting his record to 9-3. Ken McMullen homered for the Senators.

Gates Brown beat the relay to first on what would have been an inning-ending double play grounder as George Thomas scored the winning run for Detroit in the ninth. Norm Cash started the rally with a bunt single and Thomas, running for Cash, reached third on Don Wert's single.

Orlando Pena, obtained recently from Kansas City, picked up the victory, his first of the year, in relief.

Bucs Blow Lead To Cards

Dodgers Bow To Cubs, 6-3; Phils Climb

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hal Smith has caught the 567th game of his major league career and he still has only one line in the record books:

"Led National League in passed balls, 17, 1957."

Forced to quit baseball because of a heart condition, Smith was pressed into service by the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday for the first time in more than four years and caught eight innings in the Pirates' 7-6 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals.

For the first seven innings Smith, who was yanked off the coaching lines because of injuries to the entire Pirate catching corps of Del Crandall, Jim Pagliaroni and Ossie Virgil, played little more than a game of catch as Bob Veale checked the Cardinals on three hits.

But now it was 10:26 and Smith's rusty 34-year-old legs were going to get a quick refresher course as the Cardinals put together a four-run rally that tied the score.

After Bill White led off the eighth with a single, Smith began darting around the plate as Veale hit a wild streak and walked Phil Gagliano and Dick Groat. There was a brief respite as Mike Shannon and Curt Flood went out, but then it started all over again.

Ken Boyer was hit by a pitch, filling the bases before the count went to 3 and 2 on Carl Warwick. Smith squatted and then started running toward the backstop as Veale uncorked a fourth ball wild pitch, and Gagliano and Groat raced across the plate.

Smith put the mask back on, and had just sat down on his haunches when Bob Uecker was hit by a pitch. But at last Manager Harry Walker called for a new pitcher and Don Schwall came on. Smith warmed him up, then darted around as Schwall walked Bob Skinner.

Smith was getting a little tired, but so was Walker and he immediately pulled Schwall and tried Frank Carpin. Smith warmed him up, then squatted.

Tim McCarver was the batter, 10:55 was the time and strike three was the call.

And Smith trudged to the dugout.

The 1-2 teams in the National League also trudged back to the dugout, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers after a 6-3 loss to the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati following a 5-1 loss to the New York Mets. In the only other game scheduled, Philadelphia moved into fourth place with a 2-1 victory over Milwaukee.

Glenn Beckert, who had hit only one previous homer for the Cubs, supplied the fireworks against the Dodgers. He put Chicago ahead 1-0 with a homer in the fourth inning off Johnny Podres and hit a three-run shot in the seventh that wrapped it up. Reliever Lindy McDaniel got the victory.

Ed Kranepool hit a two-run homer and Ron Swoboda slammed a two-run triple in support of Al Jackson's seven-hit pitching as the Mets defeated the Reds. Jim Maloney, who pitched 10 no-hit innings and lost to New York earlier in the season, gave up six hits this time in six innings and now is 8-4. Jackson is 4-10.

Ray Culp, 5-4, checked the Braves on three hits and scored the winning run in the eighth inning when he singled and came around on a bunt, a grounder and Johnny Callison's single. The loser was Ken Johnson, now 6-4, who allowed just six hits.

Basketball is conceded to be the one major sport that is exclusively all -American in origin.

Ex-Yankee Bonus Baby Swings Big Bat For Orioles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees are putting Curt Blefary through college and Blefary's putting the Yankees through a wringer.

Blefary, signed by the Yankees as a hot outfield prospect in 1962 but lost to Baltimore on waivers a year later, continued to haunt his former employers Thursday night, belting a home run and triple in the Orioles' 4-3 victory over New York.

The 21-year-old rookie, a native of Brooklyn, has clubbed five homers, driven in 11 runs and compiled a .375 average in nine games against New York this season. What's more, when he finishes with Yankee pitching he'll hit Yankee management for the unpaid bill on his college education.

The Yankees gave Curt a $20,000 bonus when they signed him off New York's Wagner College campus and agreed to pick up the tab when he returned to school. He has a year to go but will attend classes only during the off-season. So, the Yankees will be paying the bill for another two years.

The Orioles' victory kept them 3½ games behind first-place Cleveland one-half game in front of fifth-place Detroit. The Indians trimmed Washington 7-2 and the Tigers nipped Boston 2-1 in the only other AL action.

Leon Wagner's two-run homer, two doubles by Chuck Hinton and three singles by Max Alvis backed the five-hit pitching of Sonny Siebert as the Indians increased their league lead to a full game over idle Minnesota.

Siebert struck out 11 while boosting his record to 9-3. Ken McMullen homered for the Senators.

Gates Brown beat the relay to first on what would have been an inning-ending double play grounder as George Thomas scored the winning run for Detroit in the ninth. Norm Cash started the rally with a bunt single and Thomas, running for Cash, reached third on Don Wert's single.

Orlando Pena, obtained recently from Kansas City, picked up the victory, his first of the year, in relief.

Baxter Holds Stroke Lead In Western

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Rex Baxter, a philosophical Texan, hoped today his new putter was sighted on his second pro golf triumph in seven years as the $70,000 Western Open went into the second round.

The 29-year-old Baxter, an NCAA champion for the University of Houston in 1957, shot a five-under-par 66 at Tam O'Shanter Thursday for a one-stroke lead.

Second was Chi Chi Roriguez, the defending champion, who shot 67.

Six players were knotted at 68, including Frank Wharton, Joe Campbell, Fred Hawkins, Sonny Methvin, Bill Garrett and Tom Aaron.

In all, 32 players broke par 71 in the quest for the $11,000 first prize.

Included among 13 bunched at 69 was British Open champion Tony Lema, the Western's headline attraction. The Big Three of U.S. Open champion Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Arnie Palmer skipped this meet.

Baxter, currently 74th on the PGA money list with $5,114, won his only pro tourney at the close of the 1963 tour, the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La.

McBurney's broke a 3-3 tie with three runs in the third inning to register a victory. Mike Smith collected a triple and two singles while Mark Cashdollar lashed two singles for the winners.

A pair of singles by Abrams and Steve Golden's double led Burbick's.

Randy McVay hurled a four hitter in the Veteran Plate Glass victory and Mike Lockhart proved the hero when he singled with the bases loaded in the sixth to drive in the winning run.

Dean Horger had two of Golden Star's four hits.

Baxter Holds Stroke Lead In Western

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Rex Baxter, a philosophical Texan, hoped today his new putter was sighted on his second pro golf triumph in seven years as the $70,000 Western Open went into the second round.

The 29-year-old Baxter, an NCAA champion for the University of Houston in 1957, shot a five-under-par 66 at Tam O'Shanter Thursday for a one-stroke lead.

Second was Chi Chi Roriguez, the defending champion, who shot 67.

Six players were knotted at 68, including Frank Wharton, Joe Campbell, Fred Hawkins, Sonny Methvin, Bill Garrett and Tom Aaron.

In all, 32 players broke par 71 in the quest for the $11,000 first prize.

Included among 13 bunched at 69 was British Open champion Tony Lema, the Western's headline attraction. The Big Three of U.S. Open champion Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Arnie Palmer skipped this meet.

Baxter, currently 74th on the PGA money list with $5,114, won his only pro tourney at the close of the 1963 tour, the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La.

Veteran's, McBurney's, Medic's Gain Decisions

Jim Moore pitched and batted the Medics to a 16-3 victory over the Chester Legion while McBurney's spilled Burbick's, 6-3 and Veteran Plate Glass nipped Golden Star, 5-4, in the Little League action Thursday.

Moore hurled a three hitter and smacked a home run and single to pace the Medics. Frederick contributed two doubles to the Medic attack and Aaron smacked a triple and single. M. Blankenship doubled for Chester.

McBurney's broke a 3-3 tie with three runs in the third inning to register a victory. Mike Smith collected a triple and two singles while Mark Cashdollar lashed two singles for the winners.

A pair of singles by Abrams and Steve Golden's double led Burbick's.

Randy McVay hurled a four hitter in the Veteran Plate Glass victory and Mike Lockhart proved the hero when he singled with the bases loaded in the sixth to drive in the winning run.

Dean Horger had two of Golden Star's four hits.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Golfers, Go Home!

LA COSTA BY - THE - SEA, Calif. — This is another new and posh watering hole which will be televised nationally next winter as the scene of CBS' Golf Classic series. Something should be done to stop it.

Hal Humphrey

Showing these golfer's paradises on TV to millions of duffers up to the top buckle of their galoshes in snow and ice is going to be the ultimate ruin of Southern California. Soon there won't be enough space left to build another sand trap, and hordes of golfers will have to yell "Fore!" just to get their cars on the freeway leading to a spa like this one which is nestled in a valley 30 miles north of San Diego.

-:-

LA COSTA COUNTRY CLUB is the core of another big and fancy home development, and getting it on network TV for the Golf Classic is like hanging out a "For Sale" sign and road map for Hugh Conway's Shangri-La.

An official opening of the La Costa golf course was held this week, and newsmen were invited to break it in and take a short lesson in how to spell the name of the place properly.

"I hope I've found a home here," said CBS Sports Director Frank Chirkinian dreamily, then quickly added, "I mean for our Golf Classic."

We all knew what he meant, as we sat in the well-upholstered clubhouse staring into the 18th fairway and sighing, "Yeah!"

-:-

LA COSTA is a private club, but if you bought a house and learned how to rob banks at night you shouldn't have any trouble becoming a member.

By the way, the money for this fabulous layout (including sonar baths and Nancy Chaffee Kiner to teach you tennis) is rumored to have come from Las Vegas and the Desert Inn, where it happens golf's Tournament of Champions is held annually.

We were assured that such was not the case. It happens, however, there are a few investors here who also are investors in the Desert Inn enterprise. See how easy it is for rumors to start?

Also, there has been talk about some of the golf shows on TV cutting a few corners to make things more dramatic — kicking balls from sand traps when the cameras were pointed the other way, for instance.

-:-

"YOU'D NEVER find anything like that on Golf Classic with Cary Middlecoff calling the action," maintained Chirkinian, "because Cary wouldn't allow cheating."

He might have added how meticulous CBS is about any hanky-panky on its TV programs since some ball kicking was discovered on a show called $64,000 Question a few years ago.

Nearly all of the top PGA money winners will be on hand for a hopeful slice of CBS' $166,000 prize money when the tournament is taped next November for its Dec. 25 tee-off on the air.

"Of course we won't have Palmer, Player or Nicklaus," reported Chirkinian. "They have their own little thing going on another network."

-:-

THE PAST TWO Golf Classics, which are seen on CBS each Saturday and Sunday from Dec. 25 through April 3, were played at La Quinta near Palm Springs, where there are almost as many golf courses now as kidney-shaped swimming pools.

Supposedly one of the reasons for switching it to La Costa is to eliminate further a chance of rain during the four weeks of taping, which can cost the network $14,000 to $15,000 each day lost.

Rain, we were told, is not allowed in this valley, although one indiscreet native of the area was overheard to say there are sometimes fogs so thick you could lose sight of a golf ball by teeing it up too far from your nose.

If this year's Golf Classic is the success anticipated, Chirkinian said the prize money will be increased next time and the program televised in color. That and the Tournament of Roses New Year's Parade on TV in the same week should empty all of Iowa, Nebraska and most of Wisconsin.

Jobless Rate Shows Increase After Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unemployment rate increased to 4.7 per cent in June after hitting an eight-year low of 4.6 per cent in May. But non-farm employment reached a record level of 67,459,000.

Reporting these figures Thursday, the Labor Department said they were based on the first 12 days of the month and therefore did not reflect the full impact of the entry into the job market of college and high school students.

Total employment for the month reached 72.6 million, up from 72.4 million in May.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Golfers, Go Home!

LA COSTA BY - THE - SEA, Calif. — This is another new and posh watering hole which will be televised nationally next winter as the scene of CBS' Golf Classic series. Something should be done to stop it.

Hal Humphrey

Showing these golfer's paradises on TV to millions of duffers up to the top buckle of their galoshes in snow and ice is going to be the ultimate ruin of Southern California. Soon there won't be enough space left to build another sand trap, and hordes of golfers will have to yell "Fore!" just to get their cars on the freeway leading to a spa like this one which is nestled in a valley 30 miles north of San Diego.

-:-

LA COSTA COUNTRY CLUB is the core of another big and fancy home development, and getting it on network TV for the Golf Classic is like hanging out a "For Sale" sign and road map for Hugh Conway's Shangri-La.

An official opening of the La Costa golf course was held this week, and newsmen were invited to break it in and take a short lesson in how to spell the name of the place properly.

"I hope I've found a home here," said CBS Sports Director Frank Chirkinian dreamily, then quickly added, "I mean for our Golf Classic."

We all knew what he meant, as we sat in the well-upholstered clubhouse staring into the 18th fairway and sighing, "Yeah!"

-:-

LA COSTA is a private club, but if you bought a house and learned how to rob banks at night you shouldn't have any trouble becoming a member.

By the way, the money for this fabulous layout (including sonar baths and Nancy Chaffee Kiner to teach you tennis) is rumored to have come from Las Vegas and the Desert Inn, where it happens golf's Tournament of Champions is held annually.

We were assured that such was not the case. It happens, however, there are a few investors here who also are investors in the Desert Inn enterprise. See how easy it is for rumors to start?

Also, there has been talk about some of the golf shows on TV cutting a few corners to make things more dramatic — kicking balls from sand traps when the cameras were pointed the other way, for instance.

-:-

"YOU'D NEVER find anything like that on Golf Classic with Cary Middlecoff calling the action," maintained Chirkinian, "because Cary wouldn't allow cheating."

He might have added how meticulous CBS is about any hanky-panky on its TV programs since some ball kicking was discovered on a show called $64,000 Question a few years ago.

Nearly all of the top PGA money winners will be on hand for a hopeful slice of CBS' $166,000 prize money when the tournament is taped next November for its Dec. 25 tee-off on the air.

"Of course we won't have Palmer, Player or Nicklaus," reported Chirkinian. "They have their own little thing going on another network."

-:-

THE PAST TWO Golf Classics, which are seen on CBS each Saturday and Sunday from Dec. 25 through April 3, were played at La Quinta near Palm Springs, where there are almost as many golf courses now as kidney-shaped swimming pools.

Supposedly one of the reasons for switching it to La Costa is to eliminate further a chance of rain during the four weeks of taping, which can cost the network $14,000 to $15,000 each day lost.

Rain, we were told, is not allowed in this valley, although one indiscreet native of the area was overheard to say there are sometimes fogs so thick you could lose sight of a golf ball by teeing it up too far from your nose.

If this year's Golf Classic is the success anticipated, Chirkinian said the prize money will be increased next time and the program televised in color. That and the Tournament of Roses New Year's Parade on TV in the same week should empty all of Iowa, Nebraska and most of Wisconsin.

Jobless Rate Shows Increase After Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unemployment rate increased to 4.7 per cent in June after hitting an eight-year low of 4.6 per cent in May. But non-farm employment reached a record level of 67,459,000.

Reporting these figures Thursday, the Labor Department said they were based on the first 12 days of the month and therefore did not reflect the full impact of the entry into the job market of college and high school students.

Total employment for the month reached 72.6 million, up from 72.4 million in May.

74-A Automobiles For Rent

A A DEALER needs cars and pickups. Must be exceptionally sharp. Will pay cash or if payments too high will trade back to older model — finance balances paid off. "Say," why not trade back to one of the most economical cars in the world for approximately $1 a day. You can trade your big costly operating car for a like new Volkswagen with operating on 1c per mile, 5.3 pints of the best oil, get up to 43.2 miles on regular gas, up to 100,000 miles on your first set of tires, also in replacing a new rear fender costs only $18.95, insurance is much, much less on a Volkswagen. Make us prove it. You eliminate water pump, radiator, anti-freeze, hose, clamps, drive shaft assembly. It's a rear end air cooled engine. You can almost trade year for year for the price of power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seat, and automatic on your big costly operating car. Volkswagen has the lowest depreciation, providing you keep it sharp, highest trade in value, and it starts at $1,563 P.O.E. and up. You pay less and save 50c out of every $1 when you drive a Volkswagen versus a big costly operating car. Why not join the millions of people who are driving the Volkswagen. There must be a reason. Come in, write, or call and talk to our courteous salesmen. SEE your local representative Mr. CHUCK RINESTINE. See it — Drive it — Just try it. — There goes another Volkswagen. Why does he drive a Volkswagen? Ask the man who owns one. Beaver Valley Volkswagen, 294 State St., Vanport, Beaver, Pa. Your factory dealer only 20 miles from East Liverpool, Ohio on Pa. Rt. 68. 775-4550.

P. S. PARTS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY or on tap within 24 hours. STARTING JUNE 20TH Service almost immediately. Call Mr. Charles Coen, your local man from Wellsville and our service manager or Mr. Earl King, parts manager for more information.

74-A Automobiles For Rent

A A DEALER needs cars and pickups. Must be exceptionally sharp. Will pay cash or if payments too high will trade back to older model — finance balances paid off. "Say," why not trade back to one of the most economical cars in the world for approximately $1 a day. You can trade your big costly operating car for a like new Volkswagen with operating on 1c per mile, 5.3 pints of the best oil, get up to 43.2 miles on regular gas, up to 100,000 miles on your first set of tires, also in replacing a new rear fender costs only $18.95, insurance is much, much less on a Volkswagen. Make us prove it. You eliminate water pump, radiator, anti-freeze, hose, clamps, drive shaft assembly. It's a rear end air cooled engine. You can almost trade year for year for the price of power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seat, and automatic on your big costly operating car. Volkswagen has the lowest depreciation, providing you keep it sharp, highest trade in value, and it starts at $1,563 P.O.E. and up. You pay less and save 50c out of every $1 when you drive a Volkswagen versus a big costly operating car. Why not join the millions of people who are driving the Volkswagen. There must be a reason. Come in, write, or call and talk to our courteous salesmen. SEE your local representative Mr. CHUCK RINESTINE. See it — Drive it — Just try it. — There goes another Volkswagen. Why does he drive a Volkswagen? Ask the man who owns one. Beaver Valley Volkswagen, 294 State St., Vanport, Beaver, Pa. Your factory dealer only 20 miles from East Liverpool, Ohio on Pa. Rt. 68. 775-4550.

P. S. PARTS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY or on tap within 24 hours. STARTING JUNE 20TH Service almost immediately. Call Mr. Charles Coen, your local man from Wellsville and our service manager or Mr. Earl King, parts manager for more information.

Junior Editors Quiz on THUNDER

QUESTION: What makes thunder sound the way it does?

ANSWER: The ancient peoples were terrified by thunder. They could not understand how it was produced. They imagined that one of the gods was angry at them—such as the Viking's god Thor, whom we show raising the hammer which he was supposed to use in making thunderbolts. We still respect the mighty force of lightning, but this force is no longer a mystery. It is something we can understand.

Lightning is caused by powerful electrical charges which build up inside certain kinds of clouds. When this electric pressure becomes very strong it is released by lightning, which may strike within the cloud or connect with something on or near the earth. A very large amount of electrical energy passes through the thunderbolt, and this instantly heats the air it passes through to a very high degree. The heat expands the molecules of the air and these fly violently outward, crashing into the smaller molecules of the cooler air beyond. It is this collision which produces the thunder, symbolized, in the circular diagram, by larger circles ramming into smaller ones. Besides the main bolt of lightning, there are many small zig-zag side branches. From these smaller bolts comes the crackling sound we often hear.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: After you see the flicker of lightning, count the seconds until you hear the noise. The thunder sound will travel about a mile in five seconds. Counting the seconds will enable you to tell about how far away from you the thunderstorm is.

★ ★ ★

How Can I?

By ANN ASHLEY

Q.—How can I forestall the rusting and rotting of wood frame screens around the moldings?

A.—Use a calking compound on the edges of the screening where it is tacked to the frame. Then tack the molding over the screen, forcing the calking through the screen and filling any irregularities in the wood. Scrape away the excess calking, and then paint your screens.

Q.—How can I clean copper utensils?

A.—Mix a cupful of flour and a tablespoon of salt to a paste with vinegar. Rub this over the copper with a soft cloth, then polish with a flannel or chamois.

Q.—How can I remove varnish from furniture?

A.—With equal quantitites of ammonia and water.

Q.—How can I remedy "sweating" pipes in my basement?

A.—Procure special insulating strips, sold in all plumbing establishments. Wipe the pipes dry, cut the strips to cover four or five feet at a time. Use cord to hold the wrappings on the pipe while winding it.

Q.—How can I make a good, fluffy souffle?

A.—Use ¼-teaspoon of cream of tartar. Add it to the beaten egg whites of any standard souffle recipe, and bake it the usual slow oven (330 degrees). The souffle will retain its airy poise throughout the meal.

Q.—How can I remove crayon marks from wallpaper?

A.—All traces of this kind of "artwork" are usually removed when lightly rubbed over with very fine steel wool. If done carefully, this will not damage your wallpaper.

The heat expands the molecules of the air and these fly violently outward, crashing into the smaller molecules of the cooler air beyond. It is this collision which produces the thunder, symbolized, in the circular diagram, by larger circles ramming into smaller ones. Besides the main bolt of lightning, there are many small zig-zag side branches. From these smaller bolts comes the crackling sound we often hear.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: After you see the flicker of lightning, count the seconds until you hear the noise. The thunder sound will travel about a mile in five seconds. Counting the seconds will enable you to tell about how far away from you the thunderstorm is.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Proper Discipline Aids Development

A few children in our nation, typically under the age of three, have received serious physical abuse. Reports of scattered cases from hospitals for a number of years seem to have caused a group of five leading physicians in pediatrics, psychiatry, roentgenology (X-ray), obstetrics, and gynecology to make a survey of the prevalence of this problem.

Dr. Garry Myers

They are: C. Henry Kempe, Frederic N. Silverman, Brandt F. Steele, William Droegenmueller and Henry K. Silver, all M. D.'s. They reported their study in the Journal of the American Medical Association for July 7, 1962.

They understood a nationwide survey of hospitals which were asked to report the incidence of the battered child syndrome in a one-year period.

FROM 71 hospitals replying, 302 such cases were reported. Of these, 33 children died and 85 suffered permanent brain injury. In a third of the cases proper medical diagnosis was followed by some kind of legal action.

Whether or not there is a history of the injury, the X-ray reveals the damage to the growing skeletal structures. Yet some physicians are reluctant to accept the radiologic signs as an indication of repetitive trauma and possible abuse.

This reluctance stems from the emotional unwillingness of the physician to consider abuse as the cause of the child's difficulty and also because of unfamiliarity with certain aspects of fracture healing so that he is unsure of the significance of the lesions that are present.

TO THE informed physician, the bones tell a story the child is too young or too frightened to tell.

But psychiatric knowledge of why the child is battered is meager. Nobody knows how often the battering parents are mentally and emotionally disturbed. Frequently they have been described as psychopathic or sociopathic characters.

Some battering of children occurs among parents of "good education and stable financial and social background." In most of such cases the authors believe that some defect in character structure is present.

Sometimes parents may be repeating the type of child care practiced on them in their childhood.

Do these findings mean that all physical punishment should be condemned?

—:—

AS I reported earlier, The National Academy of Pediatrics has published a bulletin on "Obedience," which approves selective spanking to train the tot in safety. It does not set lower age levels but assumes that parents will be humane and self - controlled, never bruising the flesh or bones of the youngster.

So have I assumed over the many years I have written this column and have urged parents to train the tot early in the unambiguous meaning of "no." From what many, including the present writer, have been saying about the harm to children from excessive permissiveness, some parents may wrongly suppose they have professional approval to hit the child whenever they feel angry at him.

No sense in giving any physical pain to the child before he can move about under his own steam. When you begin to spank, be sure it's just a stinging slap on a safe place, as the thigh. Never use anything on the young child but your bare flat hand. Never jerk or shake a child of any age or slap him about the face or head. Avoid using on an older child a bruising "weapon" like a hairbrush or ruler. A very thin, broad pliable paddle is safer.

AS SOON as your tot has learned from pain connected with "no" or "don't" (rarely said) to obey this word and to stay where put, you should aim to abandon physical punishment. Instead, have him sit at a certain place unamused, doing nothing for 15 to 30 minutes, according to his age. This type of punishment is safe, humane and very effective.

My bulletins, "Love and Restraint," and "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Heiress Begins Honeymoon With State Policeman

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — Heiress Gamble Benedict and a husky state policeman are honeymooning today after a quiet wedding in this upstate college town.

The couple sped away by car to an undisclosed destination for an announced flight to Ireland following a simple double-ring ceremony Thursday.

Gamble, 24, and Thomas F. Gallagher Jr., 32, were wed in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. Only 15 close friends and family members attended.

Two trooper friends of Gallagher patrolled the street outside to keep away any intruders — especially Gamble's former husband, onetime chauffeur Andre Porumbeanu. Porumbeanu had been insisting he wanted to see his and Gamble's sons — Gheorghe, 4, and Grigori, 2 — who are in their mother's custody.

Porumbeanu currently is involved in a $6,000 alimony judgment brought against him by his first wife.

Gamble's highly publicized elopment with Porumbeanu in 1960 ended in annulment last October on grounds that his Mexican divorce from his first wife was illegal.

Gallagher, who stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 210 pounds, and his first wife, the former Doris Kelly of Syracuse, were divorced. They had a daughter, Christine Ann, now 13.

Gallagher is a Catholic, his bride a Protestant. The diocesan office in Syracuse said "all customary prerequisites for a mixed marriage in the Catholic Church were fulfilled."

Use Politics, CORE Urged

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Political organization at the Ghetto level "is the vehicle to take us to the desired objective," director James Farmer told the Congress of Racial Equality Thursday.

Farmer, in his opening address to CORE's annual convention in Durham, called on the civil rights movement to begin using politics, sharpened by community organization, as the primary weapon in its fight for Negro rights.

Farmer called on the civil rights workers to put up candidates for nomination to public offices and back them "through political vehicles like the Freedom Democratic movement."

The Freedom Democratic party was organized in Mississippi to oppose that state's Democratic party, which traditionally has held to segregationist policies.

"If the need for community organization has been great in the past, it is now, I believe, desperate," Farmer said. "It is now or never. CORE's survival as a valuable and relevant organization depends on it."

Farmer said civil rights workers "must be in a position of power," a position to change political units not responsive to CORE's needs.

Policeman Aided By Akron Unions

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Patrolman Harold Wintrow, who was partly paralyzed by a bullet from the gun of a man arrested for questioning in a robbery, may not recognize his home when he gets out of the hospital next month.

Dozens of members of the Akron Building Trades Council, representing craft unions, have volunteered to build an addition to Wintrow's house. The addition is to include a bathroom, bedroom, garage and a wheelchair ramp.

Wintrow said Thursday the addition "means the difference between keeping my home and selling and buying another."

Wintrow was one of two patrolmen wounded in the April 10 shooting. A third patrolman was killed.

Truck Mishap Brings Indiana 'Turkey Day'

SARDINIA, Ind. (AP)—There may be an early Thanksgiving for residents around this hamlet 15 miles southwest of Greensburg in east-central Indiana.

A truck carrying about 5,000 baby turkeys hit a tree near here Thursday. Some of the birds were killed but many escaped into the countryside.
